CrowdStrike Certified SIEM Engineer Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

You are creating an AI-generated parser to process and normalize log data from various sources. How would you ensure the parser accurately interprets and categorizes the log data?

- A. Create a set of log examples to match log patterns from different sources
- B. Write the parser in a high-level programming language (Python or Java)

- C. Ensure the parser has a minimum of 100 lines

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is B . CrowdStrike states that AI-generated parsers are built from sample log records .

Falcon Next-Gen SIEM analyzes those samples to learn the logs' structure and content, so providing representative examples is the documented way to help the parser interpret and categorize data correctly.

Options A and C are not supported by CrowdStrike documentation. There is no requirement for a minimum parser length, and Next-Gen SIEM parsers are not written as Python or Java programs; CrowdStrike's parser template shows a parser schema and script structure specific to Next-Gen SIEM.

NEW QUESTION # 26

Which combination of scope and permissions must be configured to create an API token that allows you to create and get the results of a query job in Next-Gen SIEM?

- A. NGSiem with both write and execute permissions
- B. NGSiem with read permissions only
- C. NGSiem with both read and write permissions
- D. NGSiem with write permissions only

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 27

You are reviewing logs and find that the content appears as one large block of text within the @rawstring field for incoming firewall logs. The other expected structured fields are empty.

What is the cause of this issue?

- A. The sink was overloaded
- B. The timestamp format is incorrect
- C. The ingestion token is invalid
- D. The parser was incorrect

Answer: D

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. The parser was incorrect .

CrowdStrike LogScale documentation explains that when data is ingested without an appropriate parser , the event still arrives in LogScale, but it is not automatically parsed into fields . In that case, the event remains as raw text in @rawstring, while the expected extracted fields stay empty. That matches the exact symptom described in the question.

Why the other options are incorrect:

B is incorrect because if the ingestion token were invalid, the data generally would not be ingested successfully in the first place. C is incorrect because an overloaded sink may delay or buffer delivery, but it does not explain why only @rawstring is populated while structured fields are missing. D is incorrect because a timestamp parsing problem may cause time-related errors, but it would not by itself explain why the entire firewall event remains unparsed as raw text. CrowdStrike's parser error docs show that parse failures are tracked separately and that @rawstring is what you inspect when events fail to parse correctly.

NEW QUESTION # 28

You want a Next-Gen SIEM dashboard to update automatically when new data is available.

Which action would you take?

- A. Change the "Start Time" interval to 1 hour
- B. Toggle the "Live" button to on
- C. Change the "Fixed Time Range" to the current date
- D. Change the "Relative Time Range" interval to 1 millisecond ago

Answer: B

Explanation:

The correct answer is A . CrowdStrike LogScale documentation says the Live checkbox controls whether dashboard widget queries run as live or static queries. When enabled, the dashboard continuously updates with real-time data , which is exactly what the question asks for.

NEW QUESTION # 29

Which default role will maintain least privilege and allow for creation and management of parsers?

- A. NG SIEM Security Lead
- B. NG SIEM Analyst - Read Only
- C. NG SIEM Analyst
- D. NG SIEM Administrator

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is B. NG SIEM Security Lead . Parser creation and management requires elevated SIEM content and configuration capabilities that go beyond standard analyst activity, but it does not require the full breadth of platform-wide administrative control. NG SIEM Security Lead is the default role that best fits parser management while still maintaining least privilege compared with NG SIEM Administrator . NG SIEM Analyst and NG SIEM Analyst - Read Only do not provide the content-management level access needed for parser administration. CrowdStrike's SIEM role separation supports using the Security Lead role for advanced SIEM content configuration tasks.
