NEW QUESTION # 65

A company manages its regional operations as separate businesses. The regional sites (Site A and Site B) operate with:

- * Separate realms
- * Different code bases
- * Different category navigation menus
- * Frequent updates on category structure

The requirement from the business is to provide hreflang link tags on category pages pointing to the same category on the other regional site. Example HTML for one of these links as displayed on Site A is:

<link rel="alternate" href="https://www.siteB.com/en_US/womens-new-arrivals" hreflang="en_US" />

Which solution should the Architect choose while keeping performance in mind?

- A. Create additional locales in all realms create a new custom attribute on the category that is localized. Populate the attribute with the other site URLs and use it to display the hreflang tag.
- B. Create a new custom attribute on the Category. Populate the attribute with the other entire site URLs corresponding to locales in JSON Format. Use the attribute to display the hreflang link tag.
- C. Create a custom Business Manager module. Ask the business to maintain the hreflang link tags for each regional site in this Business Manager module.
- D. Create a new custom object type. Populate the hreflang mapping for each category and locale in this custom object. Use the custom object to display the hreflang link tag.

Answer: D

Explanation:

For a multi-regional setup with different realms and frequent updates, using a custom object to manage hreflang mappings offers flexibility and scalability. Custom objects can efficiently store URL mappings for each category across different locales, making it easier to manage and update as category structures change.

This method allows for centralized control over hreflang mappings and simplifies maintenance compared to other options which might involve more complex integrations or manual updates.
