APA American Institute of Certified Planners Exam Sample Questions (Q64-Q69):

NEW QUESTION # 64

Where was the first department store located?

- A. Los Angeles, CA
- B. New York City, NY
- C. Salt Lake City, Utah
- D. Lexington, KY

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 65

A local planner, an AICP member, participates on the site selection committee for a new reservoir. As a member of this committee, the planner must review draft technical reports. On the planner's own time, the planner is a member of the board of directors of a conservation society, which generally opposes facilities that encourage growth. In this situation, the planner should first:

- A. Inform the city planning director of involvement with the society.
- B. Abstain from any society board votes on the reservoir.
- C. Participate in the society's decision-making process.
- D. Resign from the society board.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The AICP Code of Ethics(2022), Section B, Rule 5, states, "We shall not fail to disclose a conflict of interest or even the appearance of improper influence." The planner's role on the conservation society board, which opposes growth, creates a potential conflict with their public duty on the reservoir committee. Option C (inform the city planning director) is the first step to disclose the potential conflict, ensuring transparency.

Option A (resign) or B (abstain from votes) may be subsequent actions but aren't the first step. Option D (participate in the society's decisions) exacerbates the conflict. The CPC Study Manual(2024) states, "Planners must first disclose potential conflicts, such as board memberships, to their supervisor to maintain transparency," supporting option C.

NEW QUESTION # 67

A MSA includes:

- A. Urban nucleus of 50,000 or more with a core density of 1,000 persons per square mile
- B. At least one city with 50,000 or more and a total metropolitan population of 100,000
- C. Population of 2,000 to 8,000 people
- D. At least 2,500 but less than 50,000 and a population density of 1,000 persons per square mile

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 68

A former planning manager has been asked by the chair of a neighborhood group to lead a discussion on authentic and genuine community engagement. The manager accepts the invitation, but later learns the neighborhood has formally submitted a protest on inadequate public participation for a new bicycle plan the municipality is drafting. How should the manager proceed?

- A. Ask the chair of the neighborhood to cancel its meeting to discuss the draft plan because formal protest information was not previously provided
- B. Contact planning staff currently working on the draft bicycle plan and ask that they go to the neighborhood meeting in lieu of the manager
- C. Contact the chair to discuss how to expand community engagement without focusing on the draft bicycle plan
- D. Review a copy of the draft bicycle plan and craft a white paper for the neighborhood on whether the draft has adequately engaged the public

Answer: C

Explanation:

The AICP Code of Ethics(2022), Section A, Principle 1(f), emphasizes "expanding choice and opportunity for all persons," and Section B, Rule 5, requires avoiding conflicts of interest. The manager, as a former planner, should avoid involvement in the specific bicycle plan protest to prevent any perceived bias, but can still fulfill the commitment by focusing on general engagement strategies. Option A (discuss expanding engagement without focusing on the bicycle plan) aligns with ethical principles by contributing expertise while avoiding conflict. Option B (send current staff) shirks the manager's commitment. Option C (cancel the meeting) undermines community engagement. Option D (white paper on the bicycle plan) risks bias and conflict. The CPC Study Manual(2024) states, "Former planners should avoid specific project conflicts but can contribute general knowledge on engagement," supporting option A.
