The European Union (EU)'s Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism is best described as a(n):

- A. Revision of the EU's energy taxation directive with a focus on existing fossil fuel subsidies

- B. Tool to put a fair price on carbon emitted in the production of carbon-intensive goods entering the EU
- C. Action plan to encourage the development of a sustainable, resource-efficient, low-carbon economy in the EU

正解: B

解説:

The EU Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM) is a carbon pricing tool that ensures imports of carbon-intensive goods face similar emissions costs as EU-produced goods.

This prevents carbon leakage, where companies move production to countries with weaker climate regulations.

It is not a revision of energy taxation (A).

While CBAM supports sustainability goals (C), its main purpose is to adjust carbon pricing on imports.
