Peoplecert PeopleCert DevOps Foundationv3.6Exam Sample Questions (Q63-Q68):

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which statement about deployment success rate is CORRECT?

- A. May apply to multiple environments, not just production
- B. Is used to measure application reliability and stability
- C. Applies only to production
- D. Is the same as change success rate

Answer: A

Explanation:

Deployment success rate measures the proportion of deployments that meet their objectives without causing incidents, rollbacks, or degraded service. PeopleCert notes this metric is not limited to production-it can be applied to any environment where deployments occur (staging, testing, pre-prod).

A is incorrect because focusing only on production misses valuable insights from earlier environments. C is partially correct-success rate can inform reliability-but reliability is more broadly measured with other metrics like availability and MTTR. D is incorrect because change success rate typically includes all changes, not just deployments.

Therefore, B is the accurate statement.

NEW QUESTION # 64

Firmly entrenched silos and a combative relationship between Dev and Ops is an example of:

- A. Poor leadership
- B. Low trust
- C. Change fatigue
- D. Cultural debt

Answer: D

Explanation:

Cultural debt-not just low trust or poor leadership-best describes the scenario of entrenched silos and combative Dev/Ops relations.

* Cultural debt leads to resistance to new ways of working, lack of cooperation, and a focus on individual rather than collective success.

Why not the others?

* Low trust and poor leadership are symptoms of cultural debt.

* Change fatigue occurs after repeated failed initiatives; here, the core issue is cultural stasis.

Reference/Extract:

"DevOps transformation often fails without addressing cultural debt. Breaking down silos, building shared understanding, and changing incentives are essential for sustainable change."

NEW QUESTION # 65

According to the State of DevOps Reports, LOW performing organizations have:

- A. Higher change failure rates
- B. More frequent code deployments
- C. Faster lead times from commit to deploy
- D. Faster mean times to recovery

Answer: A

Explanation:

The State of DevOps Reports show that LOW performing organizations have higher change failure rates, meaning a larger percentage of changes lead to incidents, outages, or degraded service. In contrast, high performers have more frequent deployments, faster lead times, and quicker recovery from incidents.

NEW QUESTION # 66

What should we measure in preference to outputs and productivity?

- A. Maturity and capability
- B. Lines of code and deployment frequency
- C. Utilization and velocity
- D. Outcomes and value

Answer: D

Explanation:

DevOps shifts the focus from activity-based metrics (outputs) to impact-based metrics (outcomes and value).

Measuring outcomes means assessing whether work delivers the intended business or customer benefit.

Outputs like lines of code, number of deployments, or velocity measure activity but not whether value is being delivered. PeopleCert emphasizes that outcomes should align with business objectives—such as improved customer satisfaction, revenue growth, or reduced failure rates.

Therefore, B—Outcomes and value—is preferred for guiding meaningful improvements.

NEW QUESTION # 67

Which of the following is NOT a crucial ingredient when leading a digital transformation?

- A. Collaboration
- B. Curiosity
- C. Courage
- D. Command

Answer: D

Explanation:

Command (authoritarianism) is not a crucial ingredient for leading digital transformation.

The key ingredients:

* Collaboration

* Curiosity

* Courage

DevOps leadership is about empowering teams, experimenting, and driving change, not command-and-control.

Extract-style reference:

"Digital transformation leaders embrace collaboration, curiosity, and courage, fostering an environment where experimentation and learning drive change."
