CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam (2026) Sample Questions (Q176-Q181):

NEW QUESTION # 176

Which of the following is a characteristic to consider when selecting a satellite internet connection?

- A. eSIM requirement
- B. Increased latency
- C. Line of sight to nearby tower
- D. Necessary proximity to urban infrastructure

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the CompTIA A+ Core 1 (220-1201) networking concepts, satellite internet is commonly associated with higher (increased) latency compared with terrestrial options like cable, fiber, or DSL. Latency is the delay between sending data and receiving a response. With satellite, signals must travel from the user's dish up to a satellite and then back down to a ground station (and return again for responses). That long travel distance adds noticeable delay, which can affect real-time activities such as VoIP, video conferencing, and online gaming. Even though newer low-earth-orbit (LEO) systems can reduce latency compared with older geostationary systems, satellite service is still generally discussed in A+ as having higher latency characteristics to consider.

The other options do not best fit satellite internet. Proximity to urban infrastructure (A) is more relevant to cable/fiber availability. An eSIM requirement (B) relates to cellular/mobile service, not satellite broadband.

Line of sight to a nearby tower (C) describes cellular or fixed wireless services that depend on tower connectivity; satellite instead needs a clear view of the sky toward the satellite (not a nearby tower).

Therefore, increased latency is the best characteristic to consider.

NEW QUESTION # 177

An end user's domain password expires while they are working from home. The end user tries to reset the password using Ctrl+Alt+Delete and then receives the following message:

Configuration information could not be read from the domain controller, either because the machine is unavailable or because access is denied.

Which of the following will resolve this issue?

- A. Reset the account in Active Directory.
- B. Restart the computer.
- C. Connect to the VPN.
- D. Join the Wi-Fi network.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To change a domain password from a remote location, the system must communicate with the domain controller. Since the user is working from home, they need to connect to the corporate VPN to establish that secure connection. Without it, the password change cannot be authenticated.

Option A: Restarting will not resolve the lack of connection to the domain controller.

Option C: Resetting the password in AD could help, but doesn't let the user reset it themselves.

Option D: The user may already be on Wi-Fi; the issue is with connecting to the corporate network, not local.

CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam Objective Reference:

Objective 1.6: Given a scenario, configure basic mobile device network connectivity and application support.

NEW QUESTION # 178

A technician upgrades a CPU heat sink with a higher-performing model. While stress testing the computer, the technician finds that the CPU temperatures have drastically increased. Which of the following is most likely causing the issue?

- A. Decreased CPU voltage
- B. Missing thermal paste
- C. Airflow interruption
- D. Higher fan RPM

Answer: B

Explanation:

Whenever a CPU heat sink is removed or replaced, thermal paste must be reapplied. Thermal paste fills microscopic gaps between the CPU heat spreader and the heat sink, ensuring efficient heat transfer. Without it, there is a significant air gap, which acts as an insulator, causing CPU temperatures to rise dramatically even under light load. CompTIA A+ stresses thermal compound application as a key step in CPU cooling installation.

The scenario indicates that temperatures increased drastically after upgrading to a better heat sink. A higher-performing heat sink should improve temperatures, not worsen them-unless a critical installation step was missed. Missing thermal paste is the most common cause of this symptom and easily explains the sudden overheating.

Decreased CPU voltage would lower temperatures, not raise them. Higher fan RPM increases cooling efficiency, not reduces it. Airflow interruption is possible but less likely in a simple heat sink upgrade scenario unless the technician installed the CPU cooler incorrectly; however, the most direct and common cause described by CompTIA is missing thermal paste.

Thus, D is the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 179

A network administrator must ensure that a printer will still be assigned a specific IP address even if all addresses are depleted. Which of the following network configuration concepts is this describing?

- A. Lease
- B. VLAN
- C. Reservation
- D. Exclusion

Answer: C

Explanation:

A DHCP reservation binds a specific MAC address to an IP address so the device always receives the same IP from the DHCP server. This ensures network devices like printers maintain consistent connectivity and availability even when the IP pool is low.

NEW QUESTION # 180

A salesperson is unable to use a personal device to access emails and calendar features at a client site but was able to use the device while at the office. Which of the following policies has been enforced on the salesperson's mobile device?

- A. MAN
- B. MOW
- C. MFA
- D. MAM

Answer: D

Explanation:

Mobile Application Management (MAM) enforces policies restricting access to apps and services based on location, ensuring security at external sites.

Why Not A (MOW): "Mobile Only Workplace" (MOW) is not a recognized term in this context.

Why Not B (MAN): Metropolitan Area Network (MAN) is unrelated to mobile device policies.

Why Not C (MFA): Multi-Factor Authentication secures user accounts but does not enforce app restrictions.

CompTIA A+ Exam Reference: Core 2 (220-1102), Section 2.7, mobile device security policies.
