Peoplecert ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management Exam Sample Questions (Q20-Q25):

NEW QUESTION # 20

A release manager has noticed that the organization has many standardized services provided to international organizations. Which aspect of release management will this situation directly affect?

- A. The release models
- B. Continuous integration
- C. The release plans
- D. Continuous delivery

Answer: A

Explanation:

Standardized services provided to international organizations imply a need for consistency and scalability in how releases are managed across diverse contexts. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document explains that release models are used to standardize the approach to releases: "Release models define the structure, contents, and schedule of releases... They ensure consistent and repeatable processes, which is particularly important for organizations with standardized services" (Section 3.2.2).

* Option A (The release plans) refers to specific plans for individual releases, which may be affected indirectly but are not the primary aspect impacted by standardization needs.

* Option B (Continuous integration) and Option C (Continuous delivery) are development practices that may interact with release management but are not directly affected by the need for standardization across international services.

* Option D (The release models) is directly affected, as standardized services require well-defined release models to ensure consistency, repeatability, and scalability across international contexts.

The situation directly impacts the design and application of release models to accommodate standardized services globally. Thus, the correct answer is D.

NEW QUESTION # 21

Which is a key input to the release planning and coordination process?

- A. Details about the users who will be affected
- B. Notifications to stakeholders about the release status
- C. Updates to the continual improvement register
- D. Documented findings on the success of a release

Answer: A

Explanation:

The release planning and coordination process in ITIL 4 Release Management requires inputs to ensure effective planning and execution of releases. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document specifies: "Key inputs to release planning and coordination include details about the users who will be affected, as this helps in scheduling and communicating the release to minimize disruption" (Section 3.2.1).

* Option A (Documented findings on the success of a release) is an output of a release evaluation, not an input to planning.

* Option B (Updates to the continual improvement register) may inform long-term improvements but isn't a direct input to planning a specific release.

* Option C (Details about the users who will be affected) is a critical input, as understanding the user base helps tailor the release schedule, communication, and impact mitigation strategies.

* Option D (Notifications to stakeholders about the release status) is an output of the release process, not an input to planning.

The correct answer is C, as user details are essential for effective release planning and coordination.

NEW QUESTION # 22

A new release manager wants to explain to the organization's service consumers the purpose of a new release management practice. What should the release manager say to the service consumers to help them realize the value of release management?

- A. The release management practice will ensure the quick use of improved services after new service features have been made available.
- B. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to users to mitigate the service provider's risks.

- C. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to the service operations team to enable them to perform tests.
- D. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to the service operations team to reduce business losses.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The purpose of the release management practice in ITIL 4 is to make new and changed services and features available for use by ensuring a controlled and efficient release process. According to the ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document, the purpose is defined as: "The purpose of the release management practice is to make new and changed services and features available for use" (Section 2.1). This focuses on delivering value to service consumers by enabling them to use improved or new services quickly and effectively.

* Option A focuses on the service operations team performing tests, which is part of the release process but not the primary value perceived by service consumers.

* Option B mentions reducing business losses for the operations team, which is an internal benefit, not a direct value for consumers.

* Option C aligns directly with the purpose: "the quick use of improved services after new service features have been made available" reflects the consumer-facing value of release management- ensuring they can benefit from new or improved services promptly.

* Option D focuses on mitigating the service provider's risks, which is a provider-centric benefit, not a consumer-focused value statement.

Thus, the correct answer is C, as it directly addresses the value to service consumers by emphasizing the availability and usability of improved services, aligning with the ITIL 4 definition of release management's purpose.

NEW QUESTION # 23

A new release manager wants to explain to the organization's service consumers the purpose of a new release management practice. What should the release manager say to the service consumers to help them realize the value of release management?

- A. The release management practice will ensure the quick use of improved services after new service features have been made available.
- B. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to users to mitigate the service provider's risks.
- C. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to the service operations team to enable them to perform tests.
- D. The release management practice will ensure that new service features are available to the service operations team to reduce business losses.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 24

A service provider is receiving poor feedback from customers about releases of updates to a software product.

A review has shown that releases are often delayed or have to be repeated due to a lack of information about their impact on business processes and on other IT systems. The service provider is reviewing the value streams involving the software releases.

Which step of the value stream analysis should the service provider use to understand the required information and dependencies?

- A. Identifying the scope of the value stream analysis
- B. Identifying the workflow steps
- C. Creating a 'to be' value stream map
- D. Reflecting on the 'as is' value stream map

Answer: D

Explanation:

Value stream analysis in ITIL 4 helps identify inefficiencies and dependencies in processes like release management. The ITIL 4 Practitioner: Release Management document notes: "Reflecting on the 'as is' value stream map allows organizations to understand the current state, including dependencies and impacts on business processes and IT systems, which can reveal gaps in information that lead to delays or failures" (Section 4.3).

* Option A (Creating a 'to be' value stream map) focuses on designing the future state, which comes after understanding the current state.

* Option B (Reflecting on the 'as is' value stream map) is the correct step to understand current impacts and dependencies, identifying the root cause of delays and repeats.

* Option C (Identifying the scope of the value stream analysis) is an initial step but doesn't directly address understanding impacts.

* Option D (Identifying the workflow steps) is part of mapping but doesn't emphasize reflection on impacts and dependencies.

The correct answer is B, as reflecting on the current value stream map helps uncover the missing information about impacts.
