NEW QUESTION # 27

A Lead Assessor has been assigned to a CMMC Assessment During the assessment, one of the assessors approaches with a signed policy. There is one signatory, and that person has since left the company.

Subsequently, another person was hired into that position but has not signed the document. Is this document valid?

- A. The authority to implement and enforce lies with the position, not the person. As long as that position's authority and responsibilities have not been removed from implementing that domain, it is still a valid policy.
- B. The signatory is the authority to implement and enforce the policy, and since that person is no longer with the company, the policy is not valid.
- C. More research on the company policy of creating, implementing, and enforcing policies is needed. If the company has a policy identifying the authority as with the position or person, then the policy is valid.
- D. The signatory does not validate or invalidate the policy. For the purpose of this assessment, ensuring that the policy is current and is being implemented by the individuals who are performing the work is sufficient.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Understanding Policy Validation in CMMC Assessments During a CMMC assessment, policies must be evaluated based on: Who has the authority to approve and enforce them

Whether they are current and implemented effectively

The validity of a policy does not solely depend on the signatory but rather on how the organization assigns authority for policy creation, approval, and enforcement.

Some organizations assign authority to a specific person, meaning a new signatory may be required when leadership changes.

Others assign authority to a position/title (e.g., CISO, IT Director), in which case a new signature may not be required as long as the role remains responsible for policy enforcement.

The assessment team must review the organization's policy management process to determine if the policy remains valid despite leadership turnover.

Key Considerations in Policy Validation: Thus, the correct answer is B, as additional research is needed to confirm whether the organization's policy is tied to the individual or the position.

A). The signatory is the authority to implement and enforce the policy, and since that person is no longer with the company, the policy is not valid. #Incorrect. This assumes that authority is always tied to a person, which is not always the case. Some organizations delegate authority to a position, not an individual.

C). The signatory does not validate or invalidate the policy. For the purpose of this assessment, ensuring that the policy is current and is being implemented by the individuals who are performing the work is sufficient.

#Incorrect. While implementation is crucial, the authority behind the policy must also be validated per CMMC documentation requirements.

D). The authority to implement and enforce lies with the position, not the person. As long as that position's authority and responsibilities have not been removed from implementing that domain, it is still a valid policy.

#Incorrect. This assumes that authority is always assigned to a position, which is not universally true. More research is required to confirm this.

Why the Other Answers Are Incorrect

CMMC Assessment Process (CAP) Document- Outlines the importance of verifying the authority and enforcement of policies.

NIST SP 800-171 (3.12.1 - Security Policies and Procedures)- Requires that policies be maintained and enforced by appropriate personnel.

CMMC Official References Thus, option B (More research on the company policy is needed) is the correct answer, as per official CMMC policy validation guidance.
