EXIN Certified Data Centre Professional (CDCP) Sample Questions (Q70-Q75):

NEW QUESTION # 70

The three elements of the fire triangle are, and. (Choose three.)

- A. Fuel

- B. Earth
- C. Water
- D. Oxygen
- E. Heat

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

The fire triangle is a simple model that illustrates the three elements that a fire needs to ignite and sustain: oxygen, heat, and fuel. Oxygen is the oxidizing agent that enables the combustion reaction, heat is the energy source that raises the temperature of the fuel to its ignition point, and fuel is the material that reacts with oxygen and releases heat and light. Removing any one of these elements can extinguish a fire. For example, water can reduce the heat and the oxygen, sand or soil can smother the fuel and the oxygen, and fire extinguishers can displace the oxygen or lower the temperature.

NEW QUESTION # 71

What factor should be considered when placing fluorescent lighting in the data centre?

- A. Fluorescent lights should not be connected to the back-up generator.
- B. Fluorescent lights should not be connected to the same UPS that supports the ICT equipment.
- C. Fluorescent lights should only be installed in equipment supporting areas and not in the Computer/Server room.
- D. Fluorescent lights should not be connected to the mains power supply.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The UPS (uninterruptible power supply) is a device that provides backup power to the ICT equipment in case of a power outage or a power quality issue. The UPS should be dedicated to the ICT equipment only, and not to other loads, such as lighting, cooling, or security systems. This is because connecting fluorescent lights to the same UPS as the ICT equipment can cause several problems, such as:

*Reducing the battery runtime of the UPS, which may not be enough to support the ICT equipment until the backup generator kicks in or the utility power is restored.

*Increasing the harmonic distortion of the UPS output, which can affect the performance and reliability of the ICT equipment and the UPS itself.

*Creating electromagnetic interference (EMI) or radio frequency interference (RFI), which can disrupt the communication and data transmission of the ICT equipment.

*Triggering false alarms or tripping the circuit breakers of the UPS, which can cause downtime or data loss.

Therefore, fluorescent lights should not be connected to the same UPS that supports the ICT equipment.

Instead, they should be connected to a separate power source, such as the utility power, the backup generator, or a different UPS.

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which one of the following is an example of Direct Cost?

- A. Damaged brand perception
- B. Reduced customer satisfaction
- C. Legal fees
- D. Negative public relations

Answer: C

Explanation:

Legal fees are an example of direct cost because they can be directly attributed to a specific project, product, or service. Legal fees are incurred for the purpose of obtaining legal advice, drafting contracts, resolving disputes, or complying with regulations related to the core business activity. Legal fees are not general overhead expenses that are shared by multiple cost objects.

NEW QUESTION # 73

What is the most preferred unit of measure for cooling capacity?

- A. BTU
- B. Horsepower
- C. Watt
- D. Ton

Answer: C

Explanation:

Cooling capacity is the measure of a cooling system's ability to remove heat from a space. The most preferred unit of measure for cooling capacity is watt (W), which is the SI unit for power. Watt is defined as the amount of energy transferred or converted per unit time. One watt is equal to one joule of energy per second. Using watt as the unit of measure for cooling capacity allows for easy comparison and calculation of the cooling performance and efficiency of different cooling systems.

Other units of measure for cooling capacity are ton, BTU, and horsepower, but they are less common and less convenient than watt. Ton is a unit of measure that describes how much water at freezing temperature can be frozen in 24 hours, equivalent to 3.5 kW or 12,000 BTU/h. BTU (British Thermal Unit) is a unit of measure that describes the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water by one degree Fahrenheit, equivalent to 0.293 W. Horsepower is a unit of measure that describes the rate at which work is done, equivalent to 746 W.

NEW QUESTION # 74

Which type of Humidifier is composed of water-filled canister containing electrodes?

- A. Steam Canister Humidifier
- B. Ultrasonic Humidifier
- C. Water Canister Humidifier
- D. Infrared Humidifiers

Answer: A

Explanation:

A steam canister humidifier is a type of humidifier that uses electricity to heat water in a canister containing electrodes. The water conductivity and the water level determine the amount of current and steam production.

The steam canister humidifier is also known as an electrode boiler humidifier or an electrode steam humidifier¹²³.
