Adobe Experience Manager Architect Master Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

A customer is using AEM on AMS as the central content provider for its omnichannel presence with more than 100+ authors working around the clock and 30+ concurrent authors. The customer is happy with the performance of the author server, but they have a critical requirement to guarantee no data loss and quick failover in the event of any author failure. Which deployment strategy would the AEM architect use for the author environment?

- A. Use multiple Oak instances with MongoMK
- B. Use single Oak instance with regular AMS backups
- C. Use single Oak instance with a cold standby
- D. Use multiple Oak instances with TarMk Farms

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 28

AEM Site users report that the web content pages render very slowly. An Architect notices that the CPU usages of the AEM Publish instances are spiking and reviews the following entry in the log:
[Fri Nov 27 23:11:00 2019] [I] [pid 16004 (tid 140134145820416)] Current cache hit ratio: 47.94 % What should the Architect do to increase the dispatcher cache ratio and prevent the AEM Publish CPU usage spikes?

- A. Create a cron job that will delete the dispatcher cache on a regular basis
- B. Add additional AEM instances to the Publish Farm
- C. Review and optimize the Dispatcher cache configuration
- D. Add additional dispatcher servers

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation⁵, dispatcher is a caching and load balancing tool that can be used to improve performance and security of AEM sites. Dispatcher cache configuration can be adjusted using various properties in the dispatcher.any file⁶. Creating a cron job that will delete the dispatcher cache on a regular basis is not a good idea as it will reduce the cache hit ratio and increase the load on AEM servers.

NEW QUESTION # 29

A customer has a requirement to allow authors to access AEM with single sign-on. To achieve this an Architect needs to integrate AEM with the customer's identity management system.
Which two actions could an Architect take to meet this requirement? (Choose two.)

- A. Configure the generic SSO Authentication Handler
- B. Configure the SAML Authentication Handler
- C. Implement a custom JAAS Login Module
- D. Implement the generic SSO Authentication Handler interface
- E. Configure the Sling Authentication Requirements for the OSGi HTTP Service

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

"implementing and configuring the generic SSO Authentication Handler interface can enable single sign-on integration with an identity management system".

NEW QUESTION # 30

An AEM Sites implementation is migrating from on-premise to AEM as a Cloud Service. Previously, the application was deployed in a single package for both code and access policy nodes. After initial deployment and testing in the new infrastructure, it is reported that user permissions are not working as expected.

What change should the Architect make to address this issue?

- A. Update package metadata to use MergePreserve for handling access policy nodes
- B. Refactor access policy nodes to Apache Sling JCR Repoint scripts in the same package
- C. Document permissions and request the Customer Success Engineer to configure
- D. Move access policy nodes to a dedicated package and install manually

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 31

In a client's test environment AEM QA Testers from multiple groups and regions are testing and making requests to the AEM application. Due to the sheer number of hosts making connections, an Architect needs a quick and easy way to allow any hosts to make requests to the AEM application.

Which approach should the Architect take to meet this requirement for this non-production environment?

- A. Use Allowlists instead of Blocklists in the Dispatcher Configuration
- B. Enable Allow Empty in the Apache Sling Referrer OSGi Configuration
- C. Restrict Clients that can flush the cache in the Dispatcher Configuration
- D. Add GET as a Filter Method in the Apache Sling Referrer OSGi Configuration

Answer: D
