- A. Start at the lowest level and build up gradually to full thickness in an area not more than 10 ft² (1 m²)
- B. Begin gunning at the lowest level and work around to full thickness in a spiral pattern
- C. Cover all areas up to 1/2-in (13 mm) thick stud tip thickness before building to full thickness
- D. Start at the lowest level elevation and build up gradually to full thickness in complete rings

Answer: A

Explanation:

To minimize rebound during gunning, API TR 980 clearly instructs to:

"Begin at the lowest level of the installation and build up gradually to full thickness in a small area of approximately 10 ft² (1 m²), avoiding sweeping motions."

- API TR 980, Section 4.3.4
