Archer Certified Administrator-Expert Sample Questions (Q15-Q20):

NEW QUESTION # 15

When building a Calculated field, the administrator is struggling to remember if the COUNT or COUNTA function is the right one to use for a given purpose. What is the best approach for the administrator to take to solve this dilemma?

- A. Use the Help section within the Formula Builder to learn about each of these functions and see some examples of syntax for each.
- B. Create multiple fields, one using COUNT and one using COUNTA, and from there determine the correct one to use.

- C. Open a ticket with Archer Support for guidance.
- D. Consult with Archer Professional Services whenever Calculated fields are required.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Archer Formula Builder is equipped with a built-in documentation tool specifically designed to assist administrators with syntax and logic. As taught in the Archer Administration II course, clicking the "Help" or "Info" icon within the Formula Builder interface provides a searchable library of all available functions.

For the COUNT vs. COUNTA dilemma, the Help section clarifies that COUNT is typically used for numeric values, whereas COUNTA (Count All) counts any cell that is not empty, including text and dates. This built-in resource provides the exact syntax and common use-case examples, making it the most efficient and standard "best practice" for self-service troubleshooting. Options C and D are inefficient for such a common task, and Option A is a "trial and error" approach that can lead to database clutter and performance issues if calculations are built incorrectly during the testing phase.

NEW QUESTION # 16

Which would be an accurate function(s) description for Archer LDAP Synchronization?

- A. Updates user profile data and deactivates accounts based on LDAP changes
- B. None of these answer are correct
- C. Only creates accounts for new users found on the LDAP server
- D. Only associates Archer users/groups with domain users/groups

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Archer, the LDAP Synchronization process is a comprehensive identity management tool. According to the Archer Administration II curriculum, its primary purpose is to ensure that the Archer user database mirrors the corporate directory (Active Directory/LDAP). It is not limited to just creating accounts or linking groups; its most critical function is the automation of the user lifecycle .

When the sync runs, it checks for changes in the LDAP source. If a user's department or email changes in Active Directory, Archer updates the user profile data accordingly. Most importantly for security, if a user is disabled or removed from the LDAP group/OU being synced, Archer can automatically deactivate the account (or move it to a "terminated" status) based on the "Missing Person" configuration in the LDAP setup.

This prevents unauthorized access by former employees. Options C and D are "Only" statements that describe small portions of the tool's capability, whereas Option B captures the ongoing maintenance and security synchronization that is the hallmark of the Archer LDAP service.

NEW QUESTION # 17

What is the main difference between an environment and an instance in Archer?

- A. An environment and an instance are the same.
- B. An instance can host multiple environments.
- C. An environment is a single system, and an instance is a collection of systems.
- D. An environment can host multiple instances, and each instance has its own database and file repository.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Understanding the Archer hierarchy is fundamental to system administration. As detailed in the Archer Administration II curriculum and the Archer Control Panel (ACP) guides, an Environment refers to the overall installation of the Archer software on a set of servers (Web, Services, and Database).

Within a single environment, an administrator can host multiple Instances . Each instance represents a logically isolated "tenant" with its own unique Instance Database , File Repository (for attachments), and set of users. For example, an organization might have one environment that hosts a "Production" instance, a

"UAT" instance, and a "Training" instance. This architecture allows organizations to share the same server hardware and software binaries while keeping the data and configurations of different business units or development stages completely separate and secure from one another.

NEW QUESTION # 18

The main goal of using SSO in an Archer environment is to:

- A. Facilitate the login experience to end users by using only one set of credentials across all their applications
- B. Facilitate the login experience to Admin users only
- C. Have end users insert their username and password each time they log into Archer
- D. Bypass the default Archer Security Parameters for the user

Answer: A

Explanation:

The primary driver for Single Sign-On (SSO) in an Archer environment is user convenience and centralized identity management. As taught in Archer Administration II, the "goal" of SSO is to reduce the friction of accessing the platform. By allowing users to leverage their existing corporate credentials (via SAML, Windows Integrated, or LDAP), they can access Archer without needing to maintain a separate, "native" Archer password.

This strategy improves security by centralizing credential management in a single Identity Provider (IdP), where Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) and account revocation policies can be strictly enforced. Option A is incorrect because SSO actually helps enforce enterprise security parameters rather than bypassing them.

Option B is false because SSO is intended for all users, not just admins. Option C describes the opposite of SSO. Ultimately, the successful implementation of SSO ensures that users have a seamless transition into Archer while the organization maintains a high standard of access control.

NEW QUESTION # 19

Using LDAP an Administrator can do which of the following? Select all that apply:

- A. Synchronize an organizations Directory users and groups with an Archer Instance
- B. Reflect user changes from Archer to organization's directory server
- C. Make users login to Archer automatically without username and password
- D. Allow updates and changes made in the organization's directory server to automatically reflect in Archer

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

The Archer LDAP Synchronization service is a "one-way" synchronization tool from the Directory Server (e.g., Active Directory) to Archer.

* A and D are correct: The service allows for the synchronization of users and groups (D), ensuring that any updates—such as name changes, department updates, or account deactivations (A)—made in the directory server are mirrored in Archer.

* B is incorrect: LDAP Synchronization does not facilitate "automatic" login (SSO). While LDAP Authentication can be used to verify a password, the seamless "no username/password" experience is provided by Windows Integrated SSO or SAML, which are distinct from the synchronization service.

* C is incorrect: Archer cannot write back to the organization's directory server. It is a consumer of LDAP data, not a manager of it. Changes made in Archer (like updating a phone number in the User Profile) will not be pushed back to Active Directory; in fact, they will likely be overwritten by the next LDAP sync.
