NEW QUESTION # 184

A company has migrated an application to Amazon EC2 Linux instances. One of these EC2 instances runs several 1-hour tasks on a schedule. These tasks were written by different teams and have no common programming language. The company is concerned about performance and scalability while these tasks run on a single instance. A solutions architect needs to implement a solution to resolve these concerns.

Which solution will meet these requirements with the LEAST operational overhead?

- A. Use AWS Batch to run the tasks as jobs. Schedule the jobs by using Amazon EventBridge (Amazon CloudWatch Events).
- B. Create an Amazon Machine Image (AMI) of the EC2 instance that runs the tasks. Create an Auto Scaling group with the AMI to run multiple copies of the instance.
- C. Convert the EC2 instance to a container. Use AWS App Runner to create the container on demand to run the tasks as jobs.
- D. Copy the tasks into AWS Lambda functions. Schedule the Lambda functions by using Amazon EventBridge (Amazon CloudWatch Events).

Answer: A

Explanation:

AWS Batch is a fully managed service that enables users to run batch jobs on AWS. It can handle different types of tasks written in different languages and run them on EC2 instances. It also integrates with Amazon EventBridge (Amazon CloudWatch Events) to schedule jobs based on time or event triggers. This solution will meet the requirements of performance, scalability and low operational overhead¹.

B). Convert the EC2 instance to a container. Use AWS App Runner to create the container on demand to run the tasks as jobs. This solution will not meet the requirement of low operational overhead, as it involves converting the EC2 instance to a container and using AWS App Runner, which is a service that automatically builds and deploys web applications and load balances traffic². This is not necessary for running batch jobs.

C). Copy the tasks into AWS Lambda functions. Schedule the Lambda functions by using Amazon EventBridge (Amazon CloudWatch Events). This solution will not meet the requirement of performance, as AWS Lambda has a limit of 15 minutes for execution time and 10 GB for memory allocation³. These limits may not be sufficient for running 1-hour tasks.

D). Create an Amazon Machine Image (AMI) of the EC2 instance that runs the tasks. Create an Auto Scaling group with the AMI to run multiple copies of the instance. This solution will not meet the requirement of low operational overhead, as it involves creating and maintaining AMIs and Auto Scaling groups, which are additional resources that need to be configured and managed².
