NEW QUESTION # 149

What is the outcome of executing this command?

```
git clone ssh://john@example.com/path/to/my-project_git
```

- A. Creates a copy of a branch called "my project"
- B. Creates a local copy of a repository called "my project"
- C. Creates a new branch called "my project"
- D. Initiates a new Git repository called "my project"

Answer: B

Explanation:

When you execute the command `git clone ssh://john@example.com/path/to/my-project_git`, the `git clone` command is used to create a local copy of a remote repository. In this case, it is accessing the repository over SSH (Secure Shell). The URL `ssh://john@example.com/path/to/my-project_git` specifies the location of the remote repository.

`git clone` is a Git command that creates a copy of an existing repository in a new directory.

The local copy will contain all the history and branches of the original repository.

The repository will be cloned into a directory named after the remote repository, which in this case would be "my-project".
