ISQI ISTQB Certified Tester Foundation Level (CTFL) v4.0 Sample Questions (Q159-Q164):

NEW QUESTION # 159
Which ONE of the following options is a PRODUCT risk and NOT a PROJECT risk?

- A. Delays in the delivery of work products by the project team.
- B. Staff shortages in the project leading to scheduling problems.
- C. Poor communication between team members, making project management more difficult.
- D. Incorrect calculation logic in the software, leading to inaccurate results.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Product risks are risks that impact the quality or functionality of the software, whereas project risks affect the process, resources, or timeline.
* (A) is correct because incorrect calculations impact software correctness.
* (B), (C), and (D) are project risks as they relate to team coordination, staffing, and scheduling rather than software defects.
Identifying product risks early improves defect detection and ensures better coverage for high-risk areas.

NEW QUESTION # 160
Which of the following statements best describes how configuration management supports testing?

- A. Configuration management is an administrative discipline that includes change control, which is the process of controlling the changes to identified items referred to as Configuration Items'
- B. Configuration management helps ensure that all relevant project documentation and software items are uniquely identified in all their versions and therefore can be unambiguously referenced in test documentation
- C. Configuration management helps reduce testing effort by identifying a manageable number of test environment configurations in which to test the software, out of all possible configurations of the environment in which the software will be released
- D. Configuration management is an approach to interoperability testing where tests are executed in the cloud, as the cloud can provide cost-effective access to multiple configurations of the test environments

Answer: B

Explanation:
This answer is correct because configuration management is a process of establishing and maintaining consistency of a product's performance, functional, and physical attributes with its requirements, design, and operational information throughout its life. Configuration management helps ensure that all relevant project documentation and software items are uniquely identified in all their versions and therefore can be unambiguously referenced in test documentation. This supports testing by providing traceability, consistency, and control over the test artifacts and the software under test. NEW QUESTION # 161
Which ONE of the following work products TYPICALLY belongs to test execution?

- A. A list of test conditions prioritized during test analysis.
- B. Test logs that document the results of test execution.
- C. Automated test scripts used for test execution.
- D. A test plan that describes the test strategy and test objectives.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Test execution involves running test cases and documenting results. Test logs (A) provide evidence of executed tests, failures, and actual outcomes. Automated test scripts (B) are part of test implementation, test plans (C) belong to test planning, and test conditions (D) are identified during test analysis.

NEW QUESTION # 162

- B. Acceptance criteria 8 has not been fully covered during the above test cycle.
- C. Acceptance criteria 4 has not been fully covered during the above test cycle.
- D. Acceptance criteria 6 has not been fully covered during the above test cycle.

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
From the user story analysis and final achievements:
* It was confirmed that dues were paid monthly for over a year, whichcovers criteria 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, and 8.
* However, there isno mention of testing for "annual payment", soacceptance criteria 4, which involveschoosing between monthly or annualpayment, wasnot fully tested.
This reflects the requirement stated in:
"Acceptance criteria are used to: Define the scope... Describe both positive and negative scenarios... Serve as a basis for the user story acceptance testing." (ISTQB CTFL Syllabus v4.0, Section 4.5.2, Page 45)
