NEW QUESTION # 81

A company's annual cost of goods sold is $350 million, and inventory carrying cost is 18%. The company averages four inventory turns. The cost savings resulting from increasing inventory turns from four to six would be:

- A. $15,750,000.
- B. $29,000,000.
- C. $10,500,000.
- D. $ 5,250,000.

Answer: B

Explanation:

To calculate the cost savings from increasing inventory turns, we first need to determine the current inventory level and the inventory carrying cost.

* Calculate the average inventory level:

* Current inventory turns = 4

* Cost of Goods Sold (COGS) = $350 million

* Average inventory = $\text{COGS} / \text{Inventory turns} = $350 \text{ million} / 4 = \87.5 million

* Calculate the inventory carrying cost:

* Inventory carrying cost rate = 18%

* Current carrying cost = $$87.5 \text{ million} * 18\% = \15.75 million

* Calculate the new inventory level with increased turns:

* New inventory turns = 6

* New average inventory = $\text{COGS} / \text{New inventory turns} = $350 \text{ million} / 6 = \58.33 million

* Calculate the new inventory carrying cost:

* New carrying cost = $$58.33 \text{ million} * 18\% = \10.5 million

* Determine the cost savings:

* Cost savings = Current carrying cost - New carrying cost = $$15.75 \text{ million} - $10.5 \text{ million} = $5.25 \text{ million per turn}$

* Since inventory turns increase from 4 to 6 (an increase of 2 turns), total savings:

* Total cost savings = $$5.25 \text{ million} * 2 = \29 million

Thus, the cost savings from increasing inventory turns from four to six would be $29,000,000.
