NEW QUESTION # 134

Your client supports multiple channels for customer sales orders and needs to be able to quickly provide availability of item supplies to these various order systems. You can use Global Order Promising's feature, Quick Availability Check REST API, to provide supply information for e-commerce and order capture applications.

Which method does this feature use to check availability?

- A. Provides quantity available today or future date
- B. Calculates quantity from inbound purchase and transfer orders
- C. Calculates date for a requested quantity
- D. Provides net availability based on aggregate work orders

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Quick Availability Check REST API is a feature of Global Order Promising that allows you to provide supply information for e-commerce and order capture applications. This feature uses the method of providing quantity available today or future date to check availability. This means that it returns the quantity of supply that is currently available in your supply chain for a given item, organization, and date. It also considers the allocation rules and the supply sources that you have defined in Global Order Promising.

NEW QUESTION # 136

Which task requires manual execution of the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface process so that a supply order gets created?

- A. Min-Max planning replenishing a purchase request
- B. Back-to-Back Procurement

- C. Planned Order Releases
- D. Drop Shipment
- E. Back-to-Back Contract Manufacturing

Answer: A

Explanation:

Min-Max planning replenishing a purchase request is the task that requires manual execution of the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface process so that a supply order gets created. Min-Max planning is a method of inventory replenishment that maintains a minimum and maximum quantity of each item in a warehouse or subinventory. When the quantity of an item falls below the minimum level, a purchase request is generated to replenish the item to the maximum level. The purchase request is then sent to the Supply Chain Orchestration Interface table, where it waits for the Process Supply Chain Orchestration Interface scheduled process to run. This process creates a supply order based on the purchase request and sends it to the supplier.

You must run this process manually or schedule it to run periodically.
