NEW QUESTION # 250

A user has attached one RDS security group with 5 RDS instances. The user has changed the ingress rule for the security group. What will be the initial status of the ingress rule?

- A. Implementing
- B. Authorizing
- C. It is not possible to assign a single group to multiple DB instances
- D. Approving

Answer: B

Explanation:

When the user makes any changes to the RDS security group the rule status will be authorizing for some time until the changes are applied to all instances that the group is connected with.

Once the changes are propagated the rule status will change to authorized.

NEW QUESTION # 251

A company has a two-tier application running on an Amazon EC2 server that handles all of its AWS based e-commerce activity. During peak times, the backend servers that process orders are overloaded with requests. This results in some orders failing to process. A developer needs to create a solution that will re-factor the application. Which steps will allow for more flexibility during peak times, while still remaining cost-effective? (Select TWO.)

- A. Increase the backend T2 EC2 instance size to xl to handle the largest possible load throughout the year
- B. Use an Amazon SNS queue to decouple the front-end and backend servers.
- C. Migrate the backend servers to on-premises and pull from an Amazon SNS queue
- D. Modify the backend servers to pull from an Amazon SQS queue.
- E. Implement an Amazon SQS queue to decouple the front-end and backend servers

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 252

A developer at a company writes an AWS CloudFormation template. The template refers to subnets that were created by a separate AWS CloudFormation template that the company's network team wrote. When the developer attempts to launch the stack for the first time, the launch fails. Which template coding mistakes could have caused this failure? (Select TWO.)

- A. The network team's template does not export the subnets in the Mappings section
- B. The Mappings section of the developer's template does not refer to the subnets.
- C. The network team's template does not export the subnets in the Outputs section
- D. The developer's template does not use the Ref intrinsic function to refer to the subnets
- E. The developer's template does not use the ImportValue intrinsic function to refer to the subnets

Answer: C,E

NEW QUESTION # 253

A Developer is leveraging a Border Gateway Protocol (BGP)-based AWS VPN connection to connect from on-premises to Amazon EC2 instances in the Developer's account. The Developer is able to access an EC2 instance in subnet A, but is unable to access an EC2 instance in subnet B in the same VPC.

Which logs can the Developer use to verify whether the traffic is reaching subnet B?

- A. VPC Flow Logs
- B. VPN logs
- C. AWS CloudTrail logs
- D. BGP logs

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 254

You are building an online store on AWS that uses SQS to process your customer orders. Your backend system needs those messages in the same sequence the customer orders have been put in. How can you achieve that?

- A. It is not possible to do this with SQS
- B. You can do this with SQS but you also need to use SWF
- C. You can use sequencing information on each message
- D. Messages will arrive in the same order by default

Answer: C

Explanation:

Amazon SQS is engineered to always be available and deliver messages. One of the resulting tradeoffs is that SQS does not guarantee first in, first out delivery of messages. For many distributed applications, each message can stand on its own, and as long as all messages are delivered, the order is not important. If your system requires that order be preserved, you can place sequencing information in each message, so that you can reorder the messages when the queue returns them.
