Adobe Commerce Developer Expert Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

An Adobe Commerce Expert is tasked with configuring different pricing for products across a multi-site installation. Each website requires independent control of its prices while using the same catalog data.

What is the minimum store hierarchy structure required to achieve this?

- A. Multiple websites, each with one store and at least one store view
- B. One website, one store, and multiple store views
- C. Multiple stores and a single store view for each store

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Adobe Commerce, product prices are scoped at the website level. To allow different prices per site while sharing the same catalog, you must create multiple websites, each with its own store and store view(s).

A (multiple stores, single website) # shares the same price configuration.

B (multiple store views) # only useful for localization (translations), but pricing is still shared.

C is correct because each website maintains independent pricing.

NEW QUESTION # 36

A Developer discovers the following code snippet in default.xml layout:

<referenceBlock name="content">
<block name="custom" template="example.phtml" cacheable="false" />
</referenceBlock>

Which caching behavior will occur?

- A. All pages will be marked as non-cacheable.
- B. The content block and all its child blocks will become cacheable.
- C. Only the custom block will not be cached.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 37

An Adobe Commerce Developer is tasked to frequently send data to a third-party API. The API utilizes a JSON Web Token (JWT) that expires every hour. The developer decides to store the JWT in a custom cache.

Which step should the Developer take to implement this new custom cache type correctly?

- A. Define the custom cache type in cache.xml with a unique name and instance.
- B. Define the custom cache type directly in system.xml at the website level.
- C. Define the custom cache type in the di.xml, ensuring the cache model implements CacheInterface.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 38

A client expresses disappointment with the underreported engagement and revenue metrics reported by Product Recommendations. Which limitation or consideration of this service should be communicated to the client?

- A. Product Recommendations requires the purchase of an additional license to enable real-time reporting.
- B. Product Recommendations does not support insightful engagement and revenue metrics; an additional service contract is required for this feature.
- C. Ad blockers and privacy settings can prevent Product Recommendations from capturing shopper behavior.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 39

A Developer using API Mesh is assigned to optimize the integration of several third-party APIs with Adobe Commerce. Part of this task is to address performance issues such as the n+1 problem. In this scenario, which option should the Developer implement?

- A. Use API Mesh to replace the existing APIs with direct GraphQL queries.
- B. Use API Mesh batching to combine multiple API requests into a single query.
- C. Use API Mesh as a middleware for aggregating data from APIs back into Adobe Commerce.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The n+1 problem occurs when multiple queries are made individually instead of being grouped, leading to inefficient performance. API Mesh batching solves this by combining multiple GraphQL requests into a single query, reducing round trips and improving response times.

A is incorrect: API Mesh does not "replace" APIs but orchestrates them.

C is partially correct but too general; aggregation alone does not solve the n+1 problem.

B is correct: batching specifically addresses n+1 query performance issues.
