UiPath Certified Professional Automation Business Analyst Professional v1.0 Sample Questions (Q19-Q24):

NEW QUESTION # 19

What are 2 key features of UiPath Automation Hub?

- A. Process Identification, Command Line Interface
- B. Process & Documentation Bank, App creation for process discovery
- C. Pipeline Management, Process & Documentation Bank"
- D. Integration with Task Capture, Process Graph Visualization

Answer: C

Explanation:

Two key features of UiPath Automation Hub are Pipeline Management and Process & Documentation Bank.

Pipeline Management helps in managing and prioritizing automation ideas throughout their lifecycle, while Process & Documentation Bank serves as a repository for storing and accessing process documentation and related content, facilitating better organization and accessibility. NEW QUESTION # 20

Who should be involved in the UAT phase?

- A. Support Team, Solution Architect, Business Analyst and Process Owner
- B. Business Analyst, Process Owner, and Subject Matter Expert
- C. Process Owner, RPA Developer, Business Analyst and Support Team
- D. RPA Developer, Solution Architect, and Client Business Team

Answer: B

Explanation:

During the User Acceptance Testing (UAT) phase, the individuals who should be involved include the Business Analyst, Process Owner, and Subject Matter Expert. This group ensures that the automation meets business requirements, is technically accurate, and adheres to operational needs, which are critical for validating the solution before full deployment. NEW QUESTION # 21

In the context of UiPath selectors, what is an anchor?

- A. A selector that takes into account possible changes in the attributes of an element, identifying them based on a pattern, rather than on an exact match
- B. An anchor is a nearby element that helps to uniquely identify the target element.
- C. An image in the application window that identifies the element, for example an icon or a button
- D. An XML fragment that stores the attributes of an element and its parent elements, including the target application

Answer: B

Explanation:

In UiPath, an anchor is used in conjunction with selectors to improve the accuracy of identifying UI elements within an application. When a selector is not reliable due to dynamic content or changing layouts, an anchor- a stable element nearby the target- can be used to pinpoint the target element with greater precision. The anchor serves as a point of reference, and the relative position of the target element to this anchor is used to identify it during automation tasks¹.

References: The explanation is based on the UiPath Documentation Portal's definition of anchors in the context of selectors²¹.

NEW QUESTION # 22

What is the difference between training an ML model using a CPU versus using a GPU in UiPath Cloud Platform?

- A. You can train multiple models on the same GPU at the same time
- B. Training a model using a GPU is around five times faster than using a CPU
- C. Training a model using a GPU is around five times slower than using a CPU
- D. Training a model using a GPU provides more accurate results

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the context of UiPath Cloud Platform, training a machine learning (ML) model using a GPU (Graphics Processing Unit) is significantly faster than using a CPU (Central Processing Unit). This is because GPUs are designed to handle parallel processing, which is highly beneficial for the matrix and vector computations required in ML model training. GPUs can perform more calculations simultaneously compared to CPUs, leading to faster training times, especially with large and complex datasets¹.

The UiPath documentation specifically recommends using GPU training for large and production datasets, as CPU training is much slower and should be used sparingly, for small datasets for demo or testing purposes¹. This aligns with the general understanding that for deep learning training, GPUs should be used due to their significant speed advantage over CPUs²³.

NEW QUESTION # 23

What is the purpose of using the Test Cases template to create test case scenarios?

- A. To identify potential defects in the system being tested
- B. To provide a standardized format for documenting and organizing test cases
- C. To develop a clear and concise test plan
- D. To automate the execution of test cases

Answer: B

Explanation:

The purpose of using the Test Cases template in UiPath is to provide a standardized format for documenting and organizing test cases. These templates serve as base models for test cases and can include data variations to be reused in different tests. They are particularly useful in Test Automation projects, where they can help ensure consistency and efficiency in the creation and execution of test cases. The templates can include other file types such as Global Exception Handler, and they are specific to the project type and the language used to create them.
