CWNP Certified Wireless Analysis Professional Sample Questions (Q10-Q15):

NEW QUESTION # 10

During a successful FT over-the-DS roam, which 802.11 frames are transmitted between the client and the new AP?

- A. Reassociation Request and Reassociation Response

- B. 2 Authentication Frames, Reassociation Request, Reassociation Response and 4-Way Handshake
- C. 2 Authentication Frames, Reassociation Request and Reassociation Response
- D. 2 Authentication Frames, Reassociation Request, Reassociation Response, 802.1X/EAP exchange and 4-Way handshake

Answer: A

Explanation:

In a successful Fast BSS Transition (FT) over-the-DS roam, the client and new AP exchange only the Reassociation Request and Reassociation Response frames. FT allows pre-authentication and key establishment with the new AP, eliminating the need for full 802.1X/EAP or 4-Way Handshake during the roam.

NEW QUESTION # 11

Which one of the following provides the most accurate indication that packets have not been successfully received by the intended recipient?

- A. Data packets being sent at low data rates
- B. CRC errors
- C. Gaps in sequence numbers
- D. Retries

Answer: C

Explanation:

Gaps in sequence numbers in captured frames indicate that one or more packets were not successfully received by the intended recipient, providing a direct and reliable indication of lost frames. CRC errors or retries suggest issues but do not always confirm packet loss to the receiver.

NEW QUESTION # 12

What should the To DS and From DS flags be set to in an Association Response frame?

- A. To DS = 0, From DS = 1
- B. To DS = 1, From DS = 1
- C. To DS = 0, From DS = 0
- D. To DS = 1, From DS = 0

Answer: A

Explanation:

The To DS and From DS flags should be set to 0 in an Association Response frame. An Association Response frame is a type of management frame that is transmitted by an AP to accept or reject an association request from a STA. The To DS (To Distribution System) and From DS (From Distribution System) flags are two bits in the Frame Control field of the MAC header that indicate whether a frame is destined for or originated from the DS (Distribution System), which is a system that connects multiple BSSs together. The To DS and From DS flags can have four possible combinations: 00, 01, 10, or 11. For an Association Response frame, which is sent from an AP to a STA within a BSS, both flags should be set to 0. #### NEW QUESTION # 13

How many frames are exchanged for 802.11 authentication in the 6 GHz band when WPA3-Enterprise is not used, and a passphrase is used instead?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: D

Explanation:

Two frames are exchanged for 802.11 authentication in the 6 GHz band when WPA3-Enterprise is not used, and a passphrase is used instead. Authentication is a process that establishes an identity relationship between a STA (station) and an AP (access point) before joining a BSS (Basic Service Set). There are two types of authentication methods defined by 802.11: Open System Authentication and Shared Key Authentication.

Open System Authentication does not require any credentials or security information from a STA to join a BSS, and it consists of two frames: an Authentication Request frame sent by the STA to the AP, and an Authentication Response frame sent by the AP to the STA. Shared Key Authentication requires a shared secret key from a STA to join a BSS, and it consists of four frames: two challenge-response frames in addition to the request-response frames. However, Shared Key Authentication uses WEP (Wired Equivalent Privacy) as its encryption algorithm, which is insecure and deprecated. In the 6 GHz band, which is a newly available frequency band for WLANs, Shared Key Authentication is prohibited by the 802.11 standard, as it poses security and interference risks for other users and services in the band. The 6 GHz band requires all WLANs to use WPA3-Personal or WPA3-Enterprise encryption methods, which are more secure and robust than previous encryption methods such as WPA2 or WEP. WPA3-Personal uses a passphrase to derive a PMK (Pairwise Master Key), while WPA3-Enterprise uses an authentication server to obtain a PMK. Both methods use SAE (Simultaneous Authentication of Equals) as their authentication protocol, which replaces PSK (Pre-Shared Key) or EAP (Extensible Authentication Protocol). SAE consists of two frames: an SAE Commit frame sent by both parties to exchange elliptic curve parameters and nonces, and an SAE Confirm frame sent by both parties to verify each other's identities and generate a PMK. Therefore, when WPA3-Enterprise is not used, and a passphrase is used instead in the 6 GHz band, only two frames are exchanged for 802.11 authentication: an SAE Commit frame and an SAE Confirm frame. #### NEW QUESTION # 14

Which one of the following statements is not true concerning DTIMs?

- A. DTIM stands for Delivery Traffic Indication Map
- B. Every Beacon frame must contain a DTIM
- C. The DTIM interval can dictate when an STA will wake up to listen to beacon frames
- D. Buffered Broadcast and Multicast traffic will be transmitted following a DTIM

Answer: B

Explanation:

Every Beacon frame must contain a DTIM is not a true statement concerning DTIMs. DTIM stands for Delivery Traffic Indication Message, and it is a subfield within the TIM (Traffic Indication Map) element in a Beacon frame. The DTIM indicates how many Beacon frames (including the current one) will appear before the next DTIM. For example, if the DTIM interval is set to 3, it means that every third Beacon frame will contain a DTIM. Buffered broadcast and multicast traffic will be transmitted following a DTIM, so that STAs in power save mode can wake up and receive them. The DTIM interval can also dictate when an STA will wake up to listen to Beacon frames, as some STAs may choose to only listen to Beacon frames that contain a DTIM.
