EC-COUNCIL EC Council Certified Incident Handler (ECIH v3) Sample Questions (Q286-Q291):

NEW QUESTION # 286

Michael, a digital forensic responder, enters a server room after a suspected data breach. He ensures all individuals not involved in the investigation are escorted out, avoids altering any device configurations, and isolates the server from the network without powering it down. What is the main goal of Michael's actions?

- A. Cloning the affected server
- B. Collecting volatile memory
- C. Creating a chain of custody
- D. Securing and evaluating the crime scene

Answer: D

Explanation:

Michael's actions reflect crime scene control, a foundational first-response principle in the ECIH forensic readiness module. Securing the area, preventing unauthorized access, and avoiding system changes preserve evidence integrity.

Option C is correct because his primary objective is to secure and evaluate the digital crime scene before evidence collection begins. ECIH stresses that scene control prevents contamination, tampering, and accidental evidence destruction.

Options A, B, and D may follow but are not the immediate objective.

NEW QUESTION # 287

Mike is an incident handler for PNP Infosystems Inc. One day, there was a ticket submitted regarding a critical incident and Mike was assigned to handle the incident. During the process of incident handling, at one stage, he performed incident analysis and validation to check whether the incident is a genuine incident or a false positive.

Identify the stage he is currently in.

- A. Incident triage
- B. Incident disclosure
- C. Incident recording and assignment
- D. Post-incident activities

Answer: A

Explanation:

Incident triage is the stage in the incident response process where the incident handler, like Mike, performs an initial assessment of the reported incident to determine its validity, severity, and potential impact. This includes analyzing the incident to verify if it is a genuine threat or a false positive. The purpose of incident triage is to prioritize incidents based on their criticality and ensure that resources are allocated effectively to address the most serious threats first. This stage is crucial for efficient incident management, as it helps in filtering out false alarms and focusing on real security incidents that require immediate attention. References: The ECIH v3 curriculum covers the incident response lifecycle, including the importance of incident triage as a key step in ensuring that incident handling efforts are focused on genuine security incidents, thereby optimizing the response process.

Francis received a spoof email asking for his bank information. He decided to use a tool to analyze the email headers. Which of the following should he use?

- A. Email Checker
- B. MxToolbox
- C. EventLog Analyzer
- D. PoliteMail

Answer: B

Explanation:

MxToolbox is a comprehensive tool designed for analyzing email headers and diagnosing various email delivery issues. When Francis received a spoofed email asking for his bank information, using MxToolbox to analyze the email headers would be appropriate. This tool helps in examining the source of the email, tracking the email's path across the internet from the sender to the receiver, and identifying any signs of email spoofing or malicious activity. It provides detailed information about the email servers encountered along the way and can help in verifying the authenticity of the email sender. Other options like EventLog Analyzer, Email Checker, and PoliteMail are tools used for different purposes such as analyzing system event logs, checking email address validity, and managing email communications, respectively, and do not specifically focus on analyzing email headers to the extent required for investigating a spoofed email incident. References: The use of MxToolbox in incident handling and email security analysis is commonly recommended in Incident Handler (ECIH v3) study materials as a practical tool for email header analysis and spoofing investigation.
