Microsoft Administering Windows Server Hybrid Core Infrastructure Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

Your network contains an on -premises Active Directory Domain Services (AD DS) domain named contoso.com. The domain contains the objects shown in the following table.

You plan to sync contoso.com with an Azure Active Directory (Azure AD) tenant by using Azure AD Connect. You need to ensure that all the objects can be used in Conditional Access policies. What should you do?

- A. Change the scope of Group1 and Group2 to Global
- B. Select the Configure Hybrid Azure AD join option.
- C. Clear the Configure device writeback option.

- D. Change the scope of Group2 to Universal

Answer: B

Explanation:

Hybrid Azure AD join needs to be configured to enable Computer1 to be used in Conditional Access Policies. Synchronized users, universal groups and domain local groups can be used in Conditional Access Policies.

NEW QUESTION # 22

Your network contains a DHCP server.

You plan to add a new subnet and deploy Windows Server to the subnet.

You need to use the server as a DHCP relay agent.

Which role should you install on the server?

- A. Network Controller
- B. Remote Access
- C. DHCP Server
- D. Network Policy and Access Services

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 23

Your network contains an Active Directory forest. The forest contains two domains named contoso.com and east.contoso.com and the servers shown in the following table.

Contoso.com contains a user named User1.

You add User1 to the built-in Backup Operators group in contoso.com.

Which servers can User1 back up?

- A. DC1 and Server1 only
- B. DC1 only
- C. Server1 only
- D. DC1 and DC2 only
- E. DC1, DC2, Server1, and Server2

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Administering Windows Server Hybrid Core Infrastructure materials describe the Backup Operators built-in group as follows: "In a domain, Backup Operators is a built-in domain local group on domain controllers; members can back up and restore files on the domain controllers in that domain." The guide contrasts this with member servers: "Member servers and clients have their own local Backup Operators group; membership and user rights there are local and separate from the domain controller's group." Because User1 is created in contoso.com and added to the built-in Backup Operators in that domain, the granted privilege applies to domain controllers of contoso.com only—that is DC1. It does not extend to member servers (such as Server1) unless User1 is added to each server's local Backup Operators group, and it does not cross domains (so DC2 and Server2 in east.contoso.com are unaffected). Consequently, the only server User1 can back up with the granted membership is DC1.

NEW QUESTION # 24

You have two servers that have the Hyper-V server role installed. The servers are joined to a failover cluster both servers can connect to the same disk on an iSCSI storage device. You plan to use the iSCSI storage to store highly available Hyper-V virtual machines that will support live migration functionality. You need to configure a storage resource in the failover cluster to store the virtual machines.

What should you configure?

- A. attributed File System (DFS) Replication
- B. Cluster Shared volumes (CSV)
- C. a storage pool
- D. a mirrored volume

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 25

Your network contains an Active Directory Domain Services (AD DS) domain named adatum.com. The domain contains a server named Server1 and the users shown in the following table.

Server1 contains a folder named D:\Folder1. The advanced security settings for Folder1 are configured as shown in the Permissions exhibit. (Click the Permissions tab.)

Folder1 is shared by using the following configurations:

The share permissions for Share1 are shown in the following table.

For each of the following statements, select Yes if the statement is true. Otherwise, select No.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.
