CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 1 Sample Questions (Q183-Q188):

NEW QUESTION # 183

A technician needs to troubleshoot a user's smartphone that will not connect to its wireless provider's service. Which of the following should the technician check first?

- A. SIM card
- B. Subscription plan
- C. Bluetooth connection
- D. Network settings

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 184

A user replaces their PC power supply and connects it to the components, but the PC fails to start. What is the most likely cause?

- A. The 4-pin CPU power connector is not connected
- B. The PSU only works in redundant setups
- C. The wattage is insufficient
- D. The computer requires additional RAM

Answer: A

Explanation:

Modern motherboards require both the 24-pin ATX connector and a 4-pin or 8-pin CPU power connector. If the CPU power connector is not attached, the motherboard will receive power but the system will not boot. CompTIA A+ specifically lists this as a common mistake after replacing a power supply.

Insufficient wattage may cause instability, but usually the system still attempts to start. RAM does not prevent power-on if missing; instead, the system produces beep codes. Redundant PSUs are used in servers, not standard desktops.

Therefore, the missing CPU power connector is the most likely cause, and this scenario reflects typical troubleshooting steps outlined in A+ hardware diagnostics.

NEW QUESTION # 185

A user is having trouble with the location services on their smartphone. Location-based applications show incorrect positions when the user is traveling. This issue affects the user's ability to navigate and use location-dependent applications. Which of the following is the best way to resolve this issue?

- A. Restarting the smartphone
- B. Enabling Wi-Fi to assist GPS
- C. Resetting the network settings
- D. Downloading a third-party mapping application

Answer: B

Explanation:

Wi-Fi assistance in mobile devices helps improve location accuracy by using nearby wireless networks to triangulate the device's position, even when GPS signals are weak (like indoors or in dense areas).

NEW QUESTION # 186

A Wi-Fi router is set up in a central room. A user on the outer edge of the building reports slow connections and intermittent internet drops. Which of the following actions will solve the issue?

- A. Running the flushdns command
- B. Installing additional wireless APs around the location
- C. Enabling the 5GHz band
- D. Upgrading the laptop to a Wi-Fi 6 NIC

Answer: B

Explanation:

CompTIA A+ explains that Wi-Fi issues at the edges of a building are typically caused by weak signal coverage, not client configuration. The recommended solution is to add additional wireless access points (APs) or mesh extenders to expand coverage and eliminate dead zones.

Enabling 5GHz would worsen the problem because 5GHz has shorter range and penetrates walls less effectively than 2.4GHz. Flushing DNS affects name resolution, not wireless signal strength. Upgrading the NIC to Wi-Fi 6 improves maximum throughput but still depends on sufficient signal, which the user does not have.

Additional APs ensure strong signal-to-noise ratio, consistent throughput, and stable roaming all solutions emphasized in the A+ wireless troubleshooting section. Therefore, option D is the correct and CompTIA- aligned fix.

NEW QUESTION # 187

Which of the following will most likely be used in a testing environment to execute unauthorized or experimental code without affecting production systems?

- A. Load balancers
- B. Virtual machines
- C. Application gateways
- D. Hybrid cloud

Answer: B

Explanation:

CompTIA A+ strongly emphasizes that virtual machines (VMs) are ideal for testing potentially unsafe software, malware samples, or experimental code because they isolate the environment from the host system.

VMs allow snapshots, cloning, and rollback functionality, which makes them essential in development, QA, and cybersecurity environments where code might be unstable or harmful.

Hybrid cloud refers to infrastructure strategy, not code execution isolation. Load balancers distribute production traffic but have no testing or sandboxing purpose. Application gateways filter traffic but do not provide execution environments.

Virtual machines create a safe sandbox where failure, infection, or corruption is contained. This is covered in the Virtualization and Cloud Computing domain of the CompTIA A+ exam, making VMs the correct tool for executing unauthorized code safely.
