Esri Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36
A user must create groups, edit features, and create web apps. This user will also create print layouts, charts, and animations using ArcGIS Pro. The organization has noadditional add-on licenses.
Which user type should be configured for this user?

- A. GIS Professional
- B. Editor
- C. Creator

Answer: A

Explanation:
TheGIS Professionaluser type includes access toArcGIS Pro, which is required for creating print layouts, charts, animations, and conducting advanced analysis. It also includes capabilities such as creating groups, editing features, and creating web apps within the ArcGIS Enterprise portal-without needing additional add- on licenses.
TheCreatoruser type supports most web GIS tasks butdoes not include ArcGIS Prounless an add-on license is assigned.
TheEditoruser type is the most limited and is intended for editing existing content only, not for creating or managing groups or web applications.

NEW QUESTION # 37
A GIS administrator must configure ArcGIS Server so that onlyspecific groups and roles fromthe identity storecan administer it. Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Configure role-based access through the ArcGIS Server Manager
- B. Disable the primary administrator account
- C. Use a group-managed service account to administer the server
- D. Define the shared key used to generate an ArcGIS token

Answer: B

Explanation:
Theprimary site administrator accountin ArcGIS Server is abuilt-in accountthat bypasses external identity store configurations. To ensureonly users froma configured identity store(e.g., Active Directory) can administer the site, the primary site admin account must bedisabledafter alternative administrative access has been confirmed.
From ArcGIS Server documentation:
"After you configure your ArcGIS Server to use users and roles from an identity store (LDAP or Active Directory), you can disable the primary site administrator account to prevent bypassing the identity store."
* OptionBrelates to token security, not access control.
* OptionCis about running the service securely, not defining user permissions.

NEW QUESTION # 38
A portal administrator is trying to enable web-tier authentication (IWA) for the ArcGIS Enterprise portal using Active Directory and IIS.
Steps taken:
* Configured portal with Microsoft version of ArcGIS Web Adaptor
* Set identity store to Active Directory
* Added AD users to the portal
* Disabled anonymous access in Portal
Users are not prompted to sign in and are not automatically logged in.
What should the administrator do next?

- A. Refresh user membership in the Portal Administrator Directory
- B. Enable Windows Authentication in IIS
- C. Assign a default user type to all portal members
- D. Work with the IT department to disable anonymous access to the IIS web server

Answer: D

Explanation:
When usingIWA through the Web Adaptor (IIS), theIIS server itself must be configuredto deny anonymous access and allow Windows Authentication. Simply disabling anonymous accesswithin the Portal settingsisnot enough.
From Esri's web-tier authentication guide:
"For IWA to function as expected, anonymous access must be disabled in IIS for the ArcGIS Web Adaptor, and Windows Authentication must be enabled. If IIS still allows anonymous access, users will bypass authentication prompts."
* OptionBis irrelevant here-user types don't affect login behavior.
* OptionCis a content sync feature, not related to authentication.

* OptionD(Enable Windows Authentication) is correctonly if it hasn't already been done, but the missing step isdisabling anonymous accessin IIS.

NEW QUESTION # 39
A GIS administrator publishes a feature service that references user-managed data. The administrator wants users to add new features. Users should not make changes to attributes of existing features or delete features.
Which feature service operations should be set?

- A. Update and sync
- B. Extract and create
- C. Create and query

Answer: C

Explanation:
To allow users to add new features without the ability to modify or delete existing ones, the feature service should have the "Create" and "Query" operations enabled. The "Create" operation permits users to add new features, while the "Query" operation allows them to view existing features. By not enabling the "Update" and "Delete" operations, users are restricted from making changes to or removing existing features. This configuration is ideal for workflows where data integrity is crucial, and only the addition of new data is permitted.
Enabling "Update and sync" (Option A) would allow users to modify existing features and synchronize changes, which is not desired in this scenario. "Extract and create" (Option C) is not a standard combination of operations for controlling editing permissions in feature services.

NEW QUESTION # 40
After upgrading ArcGIS Enterprise, an administrator observes that some items, groups, and users are missing in the portal. What should the administrator check first?

- A. Portal for ArcGIS service status
- B. Portal for ArcGIS index status
- C. That the ArcGIS Data Stores are validating

Answer: B

Explanation:
After upgrading, it's essential toreindexthe portal to ensure that all items, groups, and users are correctly displayed. The administrator should check thePortal for ArcGIS index statusto verify if the reindexing process has completed successfully. Incomplete or failed reindexing can result in missing content within the portal.
