- A. No
- B. Yes

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 24
Will this action upgrade Docker Engine CE to Docker Engine EE?
Solution. Run docker engine activate.

- A. Yes
- B. No

Answer: A

Explanation:
Running docker engine activate will upgrade Docker Engine CE to Docker Engine EE. This is a feature that allows you to switch from the Community Edition to the Enterprise Edition without reinstalling Docker or losing any data. You need to have a valid license file and a subscription to Docker EE to use this feature1. Docker EE is a premium version of Docker CE that offers additional features, such as security scanning, image management, and certified plugins23. References:

NEW QUESTION # 25
In Docker Trusted Registry, is this how a user can prevent an image, such as 'nginx:latest', from being overwritten by another user with push access to the repository?
Solution: Use the DTR web Ul to make all tags in the repository immutable.

- A. No
- B. Yes

Answer: A

Explanation:
n: = Using the DTR web UI to make all tags in the repository immutable is not a good way to prevent an image, such as 'nginx:latest', from being overwritten by another user with push access to the repository. This is because making all tags immutable would prevent any updates to the images in the repository, which may not be desirable for some use cases. For example, if a user wants to push a new version of 'nginx:latest' with a security patch, they would not be able to do so if the tag is immutable. A better way to prevent an image from being overwritten by another user is to use the DTR web UI to create a promotion policy that restricts who can push to a specific tag or repository1. Alternatively, the user can also use the DTR API to create a webhook that triggers a custom action when an image is pushed to a repository2. Reference:

NEW QUESTION # 26
If installing Docker using devicemapper for storage with the Intent to run production workloads, how should devicemapper be configured

- A. direct-lvm
- B. loop-lvm
- C. overlay-lvm
- D. aufs-lvm

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 27
Seven managers are in a swarm cluster.
Is this how should they be distributed across three datacenters or availability zones?

Solution: 3-2-2

- A. No
- B. Yes

Answer: A

Explanation:
= Distributing seven managers across three datacenters or availability zones as 3-2-2 is not a good way to ensure high availability and fault tolerance. This is because a swarm cluster requires a majority of managers (more than half) to be available and able to communicate with each other in order to maintain the swarm state and avoid a split-brain scenario1. If one of the datacenters or availability zones with three managers goes down, the remaining four managers will not have a quorum and the swarm will stop functioning. A better way to distribute seven managers across three datacenters or availability zones is 3-3-1 or 3-2-1-1, which will allow the swarm to survive the loss of one or two datacenters or availability zones, respectively2.
