Snowflake SnowPro® Core Certification (COF-C03) Sample Questions (Q453-Q458):

NEW QUESTION # 453

Which data types can be used in a Snowflake table that holds semi-structured data? (Select TWO).

- A. ARRAY
- B. BINARY
- C. TEXT
- D. VARIANT
- E. VARCHAK

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Snowflake supports semi-structured data types that can store complex data structures within a single column. The VARIANT data type can hold structured and semi-structured data formats such as JSON, Avro, ORC, Parquet, and XML. The ARRAY data type is also used for semi-structured data and can store an ordered list of elements. These data types enable users to work with semi-structured data directly in Snowflake without needing to flatten the data into a relational schema first. #### NEW QUESTION # 454

What is the default file size when unloading data from Snowflake using the COPY command?

- A. 5 MB
- B. 32 MB
- C. 16 MB
- D. 8 GB

Answer: C

Explanation:

The default file size when unloading data from Snowflake using the COPY command is not explicitly stated in the provided resources. However, Snowflake documentation suggests that the file size can be specified using the MAX_FILE_SIZE option in the COPY INTO <location>command2.

NEW QUESTION # 455

Which roles can make grant decisions to objects within a managed access schema? (Select TWO)

- A. ORGADMIN

- B. SYSTEMADMIN
- C. USERADMIN
- D. SECURITYADMIN
- E. ACCOUNTADMIN

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Managed Access Schemas: These are a special type of schema designed for fine-grained access control in Snowflake.

Roles with Grant Authority:

ACCOUNTADMIN: The top-level administrative role can grant object privileges on all objects within the account, including managed access schemas.

SECURITYADMIN: Can grant and revoke privileges on objects within the account, including managed access schemas.

Important Note: The ORGADMIN role focuses on organization-level management, not object access control.

NEW QUESTION # 456

What is the purpose of using the OBJECT_CONSTRUCT function with the COPY INTO command?

- A. Reorder the rows in a relational table and then unload the rows into a file
- B. Convert the rows in a relational table to a single VARIANT column and then unload the rows into a file.
- C. Reorder the data columns according to a target table definition and then unload the rows into the table.
- D. Convert the rows in a source file to a single variant column and then load the rows from the file to a variant table.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The OBJECT_CONSTRUCT function is used with the COPY INTO command to convert the rows in a relational table to a single VARIANT column, which can then be unloaded into a file. This is useful for transforming table data into a semi-structured JSON format.

NEW QUESTION # 457

How many days is load history for Snowpipe retained?

- A. 14 days
- B. 64 days
- C. 7 days
- D. 1 day

Answer: A

Explanation:

Snowpipe retains load history for 14 days. This allows users to view and audit the data that has been loaded into Snowflake using Snowpipe within this time frame.
