IAPP Certified Artificial Intelligence Governance Professional Sample Questions (Q166-Q171):

NEW QUESTION # 166

After completing model testing and validation, which of the following is the most important step that an organization takes prior to deploying the model into production?

- A. Document maintenance teams and processes.
- B. Identify known edge cases to monitor post-deployment.
- C. Perform a readiness assessment.
- D. Define a model-validation methodology.

Answer: C

Explanation:

After completing model testing and validation, the most important step prior to deploying the model into production is to perform a readiness assessment. This assessment ensures that the model is fully prepared for deployment, addressing any potential issues related to infrastructure, performance, security, and compliance. It verifies that the model meets all necessary criteria for a successful launch. Other steps, such as defining a model-validation methodology, documenting maintenance teams and processes, and identifying known edge cases, are also important but come secondary to confirming overall readiness. ### NEW QUESTION # 167

According to the GDPR's transparency principle, when an AI system processes personal data in automated decision-making, controllers are required to provide data subjects specific information on?

- A. The contact details of the data protection officer and the data protection national authority.
- B. The personal data used during processing, including inferences drawn by the AI system about the data.
- C. The data protection impact assessments carried out on the AI system and legal bases for processing.
- D. The existence of automated decision-making and meaningful information on its logic and consequences.

Answer: D

Explanation:

GDPR's transparency principle mandates that data subjects be informed about the existence of automated decision-making, along with meaningful information about the logic involved and the potential consequences.

NEW QUESTION # 168

All of the following analyses are part of a deactivating risk strategy EXCEPT?

- A. Understanding algorithmic methodology in AI model.
- B. Evaluating business continuity and financial risks.
- C. Evaluating up and downstream system dependencies.
- D. Understanding regulatory requirements related to data retention.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is C because understanding algorithmic methodology is primarily a design, development, and model evaluation activity rather than part of a deactivation or sunset risk strategy. A deactivating risk strategy focuses on safely retiring or discontinuing an AI system, ensuring that operational, legal, and business risks are properly managed. This includes evaluating regulatory requirements such as data retention and deletion obligations, assessing business continuity and financial implications, and understanding dependencies with upstream and downstream systems to avoid disruption. These steps ensure a controlled and compliant system shutdown. In contrast, analyzing algorithmic methodology is relevant during system development, validation, and explainability efforts, not during the decommissioning phase of the AI lifecycle.

NEW QUESTION # 169

Which of the following is a subcategory of AI and machine learning that uses labeled datasets to train algorithms?

- A. Segmentation.
- B. Supervised learning.

- C. Expert systems.
- D. Generative AI.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Supervised learning uses labeled datasets to train algorithms by providing input-output pairs for learning.

NEW QUESTION # 170

According to the GDPR, an individual has the right to have a human confirm or replace an automated decision unless that automated decision:

- A. Is authorized by applicable EU law and includes suitable safeguards.
- B. Is deemed to solely benefit the individual and includes documented legitimate interests.
- C. Is authorized with the data subject's explicit consent.
- D. Is necessary for entering into or performing under a contract between the data subject and data controller.

Answer: A

Explanation:

GDPR permits automated decisions without human intervention if authorized by EU law and accompanied by appropriate safeguards protecting the individual's rights.
