Adobe Commerce Developer Expert Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

An Adobe Commerce Cloud client alerts a Developer to an issue with their website going down during deployments. What should the Developer do to solve this problem?

- A. In the cloud env configuration YAML file, the static content deploy strategy must be defined in the build phase.
- B. In the cloud app configuration YAML file, the deployment strategy must be defined in the global phase.
- C. From the Adobe Commerce Cloud console, the zero downtime deployment checkbox must be selected for the project.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 29

In an Adobe Commerce store, there is a product attribute called `external_service_id`. A Developer must ensure the attribute is only available for specific users via the API.

How should the Developer achieve the required permissions?

- A. Setup a custom permission control at the attribute level because it is not supported out of the box.
- B. Implement an afterGet plugin and exclude the attribute for non-authorized users.
- C. Configure the access control list (ACL) resource for the `external_service_id` attribute via `etc/extension_attributes.xml`.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Out of the box, Adobe Commerce does not support per-attribute ACL permissions. ACL resources can restrict access to API endpoints or modules, but not individual product attributes.

Therefore, to restrict access to a specific attribute like `external_service_id`, the developer must implement custom permission control logic.

A is incorrect: ACL works at module/controller/service contract level, not per attribute.

C (plugin) could work but is not the correct principle-driven answer, as it is a workaround rather than attribute-level permission management.

Reference:

Adobe Commerce DevDocs - API ACL and permissions

Official note: Attribute-level ACL is not supported natively and requires custom implementation.

NEW QUESTION # 30

A client with a multisite Adobe Commerce installation needs to manage different prices for the same product across various storefronts due to factors like regional pricing strategies and distribution costs. The lowest level of the hierarchy is used to manage localization, including product content.

How should the catalog price scope be configured to address the client's requirements?

- A. Catalog price scope should be set to Store View.
- B. Catalog price scope should be set to Global.
- C. Catalog price scope should be set to Website.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Adobe Commerce, product prices can be scoped at the Website level. This allows different websites (regional stores) to have independent pricing for the same products.

A (Global): Same price across all websites/stores # does not meet requirements.

C (Store View): Prices cannot be set at the store view level # only attributes like descriptions or translations can be localized.

B is correct: Website scope supports regional pricing strategies while sharing catalog data.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A Developer needs to set up a message queue topic in Adobe Commerce to asynchronously handle order processing.

Which XML file should the Developer use to configure this?

- A. communication.xml
- B. queue_consumer.xml
- C. queue_topology.xml

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 32

A client is setting up an Adobe Commerce B2B store and wants to start offering a Payment on Account option for their customers when placing orders.

How should the Developer achieve this?

- A. Repurpose the native Cash on Delivery method.
- B. Create and implement a new Payment Method to provide credit accounts to customers.
- C. Install and activate the native Adobe Commerce module which activates payment.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Adobe Commerce B2B includes a native "Payment on Account" module, which is part of the B2B suite. This module allows customers with company accounts to place orders on account (credit).

A (repurpose COD) is a hack and not recommended.

C (create new payment method) is unnecessary since Adobe Commerce already includes this B2B feature.

B is correct: simply enable the native B2B Payment on Account module.
