NEW QUESTION # 136

What event can be added to the structure of a Sprint to help facilitate cross-team planning?

- A. Project planning event
- B. Project Sprint Planning
- C. Sprint Retrospective
- D. Sprint Planning

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation (concise, policy-compliant):

Scrum defines four events within the Sprint: Sprint Planning, Daily Scrum, Sprint Review, and Sprint Retrospective. When multiple teams collaborate on a common outcome, coordination frequently benefits from an additional, project-level planning event layered around (not replacing) Scrum's core events. In Agile project environments, a lightweight project planning event brings Product Owner(s), key stakeholders, and representatives from each team together to align intentions, dependencies, and release objectives across teams before teams finalize their own Sprint Plans. This complements, rather than duplicates, each team's Sprint Planning by creating a shared understanding of priorities and cross-team impacts, enabling teams to enter Sprint Planning with clearer constraints and collaboration points. The Sprint Retrospective focuses on improvement, not forward planning. Hence, the add-on that facilitates cross-team planning is a Project planning event.

NEW QUESTION # 137

When assessing the impact and severity of options on how to handle change, not all costs are financial. What type of cost is reflected in the downtime experienced while staff are trained to use a new process or system?

- A. Productivity dip.
- B. Safety & Wellbeing.

- C. Opportunity.
- D. Reputational.

Answer: A

Explanation:

* Productivity Dip: A temporary drop in productivity is common when employees are being trained on new processes or systems. This cost is critical to account for in planning and managing change effectively.

* Other Options:

* Safety & Wellbeing: Relates to physical and emotional health, not productivity.

* Reputational: Refers to external perception of the organization.

* Opportunity: Refers to lost potential from alternative courses of action.
