Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q44-Q49):

NEW QUESTION # 44

You're performing System Integration Testing on a client's application that integrates with an external system.

In this instance, you're testing the application's interactions with external integrations to ensure that data is being handled correctly between the two systems. However, this step has been done manually and is time- consuming.

What should you do to make this process more efficient?

- A. Utilize Appian-Locust to develop and execute performance tests on the systems integrations by scripting a scenario where multiple users are interacting with the external systems simultaneously.
- B. Utilize the Postman API Platform to test the integrations with the external system and Appian's web APIs through a defined set of test cases.
- C. Utilize FitNesse for Appian to perform automated functional testing on the workflows that include integrated systems through a defined set of test cases.

Answer: C

Explanation:

FitNesse for Appian is designed for automated functional testing of Appian workflows, including those that call external integrations. By building repeatable FitNesse test scripts that drive the end-to-end process, you can automatically verify that data is correctly sent to - and returned from - the external system each time, greatly reducing the manual effort of system-integration testing.

NEW QUESTION # 45

You need to configure a process model that runs every day at 10:00 AM. The process should start only at the specified time even when a newer version of the process model is published.

A Boolean type constant needs to be configured in the process model. The intended flow of the process should be executed only when the constant is True.

Which three steps should you perform? (Choose three.)

- A. Add an expression-based condition in the start node timer event to check for the constant to be True.
- B. Add a timer event in the start node.
- C. Add a XOR Gateway just after the start node to check for the constant to be True.
- D. Add a timer event just after the start node to check for the specific time.
- E. Add an expression-based condition in the start node timer event to check for the specific time.

Answer: B,C,E

Explanation:

Add a timer event in the start node to schedule the process to start at 10:00 AM every day.

Add a XOR Gateway after the start node to check the Boolean constant and control the flow based on its value.

Add an expression-based condition in the start node timer event to ensure the process starts only at the specified time.

NEW QUESTION # 46

NEW QUESTION # 47

What should you use to create a predefined query in a database for ease of use?

- A. Expression Rule
- B. View
- C. Stored Procedure

Answer: B

Explanation:

A database view is used to create a predefined query, making it easy to access, reuse, and join data for applications like Appian.

NEW QUESTION # 48

You're creating a process model that will serve as the case creation workflow.

Your requirements:

This process captures input from the user before executing a series of unattended subprocess nodes.

Each subprocess performs extended data processing which is dependent on output from each of the previous nodes.

An activity chained task node is displayed asking the user if they'd like to create another case.

What should you do?

- A. Combine the separate subprocesses into one synchronous subprocess and place it in between each user input task.
- B. Add an AND gate after the first user input task and place the synchronous subprocess nodes on a parallel path.
- C. Configure the subprocess nodes to run asynchronously and set the inputs to pass as reference to enable data sharing.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Combining the separate subprocesses into one synchronous subprocess and placing it between each user input task ensures each subprocess's output is available for the next step, maintaining data dependencies and supporting the required user experience with activity chaining.
