CrowdStrike Certified Falcon Hunter Sample Questions (Q59-Q64):

NEW QUESTION # 59

What topics are presented in the Hunting and Investigation Guide?

- A. Detailed summary of event names, descriptions, and some key data fields for hunting and investigation
- B. Sample hunting queries, select walkthroughs and best practices for hunting with Falcon
- C. Recommended platform configurations and prevention settings to ensure detections are generated for hunting leads
- D. Detailed tutorial on writing advanced queries such as sub-searches and joins

Answer: B

Explanation:

This is the correct answer for the same reason as above. The Hunting and Investigation guide provides sample hunting queries, select walkthroughs, and best practices for hunting with Falcon. It does not provide a detailed tutorial on writing advanced queries, a detailed summary of event names and descriptions, or recommended platform configurations and prevention settings.

NEW QUESTION # 60

You want to produce a list of all event occurrences along with selected fields such as the full path, time, username etc. Which command would be the appropriate choice?

- A. values
- B. table
- C. fields
- D. distinct count

Answer: B

Explanation:

The table command is used to produce a list of all event occurrences along with selected fields such as the full path, time, username etc. It takes one or more field names as arguments and displays them in a tabular format. The fields command is used to keep or remove fields from search results, not to display them in a list. The distinct_count command is used to count the number of distinct values of a field, not to display them in a list. The values command is used to display a list of unique values of a field within each group, not to display all event occurrences.

NEW QUESTION # 61

Which of the following is a recommended technique to find unique outliers among a set of data in the Falcon Event Search?

- A. Time-based Searching
- B. Hunt-and-Peck Search Methodology
- C. Machine Learning
- D. Stacking (Frequency Analysis)

Answer: D

Explanation:

Stacking (Frequency Analysis) is a recommended technique to find unique outliers among a set of data in the Falcon Event Search. As explained above, stacking involves grouping events by a common attribute and counting their frequency, then sorting them by ascending or descending order to identify rare or common events. This can help find anomalies or deviations from normal behavior that could indicate malicious activity. Hunt-and-Peck Search Methodology, Time-based Searching, and Machine Learning are not specific techniques to find unique outliers among a set of data.

NEW QUESTION # 62

Which of the following is a way to create event searches that run automatically and recur on a schedule that you set?

- A. Event Search
- B. Scheduled Reports
- C. Scheduled Searches
- D. Workflows

Answer: C

Explanation:

Scheduled Searches are a way to create event searches that run automatically and recur on a schedule that you set. You can use Scheduled Searches to monitor your environment for specific conditions or patterns, generate reports or alerts, or enrich your data with additional fields or tags. Workflows, Event Search, and Scheduled Reports are not ways to create event searches that run automatically and recur on a schedule.

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which of the following is a suspicious process behavior?

- A. PowerShell running an execution policy of RemoteSigned
- B. An Internet browser (eg, Internet Explorer) performing multiple DNS requests
- C. Non-network processes (eg, notepad.exe) making an outbound network connection
- D. PowerShell launching a PowerShell script

Answer: C

Explanation:

Non-network processes are processes that are not expected to communicate over the network, such as notepad.exe. If they make an outbound network connection, it could indicate that they are compromised or maliciously used by an adversary. PowerShell running an execution policy of RemoteSigned is a default setting that allows local scripts to run without digital signatures. An Internet browser performing multiple DNS requests is a normal behavior for web browsing. PowerShell launching a PowerShell script is also a common behavior for legitimate tasks.
