IFSE Institute Life License Qualification Program (LLQP) Sample Questions (Q24-Q29):

NEW QUESTION # 24

Kaamil meets with Omar, his insurance agent, to purchase a whole life insurance policy. Kaamil wants to name his wife Ofra as the irrevocable beneficiary of the policy. Before proceeding, which of the following considerations should Omar CORRECTLY ask his client to reflect on?

- A. Kaamil will need to obtain Ofra's consent if he would like to revoke her as a beneficiary.
- B. Ofra will be able to make a cash withdrawal without Kaamil's consent.
- C. Ofra will be able to withdraw funds from Kaamil's cash surrender value.
- D. Kaamil can surrender the policy without obtaining Ofra's consent.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When an irrevocable beneficiary is designated, the policyholder must obtain the beneficiary's consent for any changes that affect the beneficiary's rights, such as revoking their status or making policy alterations. By naming Ofra as an irrevocable beneficiary, Kaamil would be restricted from unilaterally changing this designation or withdrawing policy funds without her agreement. This requirement protects the irrevocable beneficiary's interests, ensuring they retain certain rights in the policy.

NEW QUESTION # 25

Dominic suffers a heart attack on October 1 and dies a little over a month later, on November 7. At the time of his death, he owned a $150,000 critical illness (CI) insurance policy, purchased 10 years earlier. Dominic never failed to pay the $100 monthly premium. When he died, the insurer had not yet issued the benefit payment. How will the CI benefit be treated?

- A. It will not be paid.
- B. Dominic's estate will receive a return of premiums.
- C. It will be paid to Dominic's next of kin.
- D. It will be payable to Dominic's estate.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Critical illness (CI) insurance pays a lump-sum benefit upon diagnosis of a covered illness, but typically requires the insured to survive for a specified period (often 30 days) following the diagnosis. Although Dominic suffered a heart attack, he did not die immediately. However, he passed away within the 30-day survival period following the heart attack, which is a common requirement in CI policies for benefit payment.

Since the survival requirement was not met, the benefit will not be paid. Generally, in such cases, the insurer may refund premiums if specified in the policy, but the CI benefit itself would not be payable.

NEW QUESTION # 26

Ming-Na is a McGill University graduate interested in pursuing a career as an insurance of persons representative. She wants to know which piece of legislation sets out the definition and role of insurance of persons representatives. Which of the options below is CORRECT?

- A. The Act respecting insurance.
- B. The Act respecting prescription drug insurance.
- C. The Distribution Act.
- D. The Insurers Act.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Act that governs the definition and role of insurance of persons representatives in Quebec is the Distribution Act. This legislation outlines the roles, qualifications, and responsibilities of professionals licensed to offer life and health insurance products. It is crucial for anyone aspiring to become an insurance representative in Quebec to familiarize themselves with this Act, as it sets out the requirements and framework for licensure, conduct, and the scope of practice in this field.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Aaliyah is a 37-year-old account manager at a large pharmaceutical company. She earns $300,000 a year plus bonuses. She meets with Theo, an insurance agent, to review her life insurance needs. Theo deduces that Aaliyah needs a $250,000 universal life (UL) insurance policy. Aaliyah agrees but states that she wants to keep her premiums low. Which of the following UL death benefit options would BEST suit her needs?

- A. Indexed death benefit.
- B. Level death benefit plus account value.
- C. Level death benefit plus cumulative premiums.
- D. Level death benefit.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A level death benefit option provides a fixed death benefit and is generally the least expensive premium option in Universal Life (UL) insurance. Since Aaliyah wants to keep her premiums low, this option best aligns with her needs. Other options like the death benefit plus account value or cumulative premiums increase the cost, as they provide a growing death benefit based on the policy's cash value or premiums paid.

Therefore, Option A will help Aaliyah maintain lower premiums.

NEW QUESTION # 28

Everett is an insurance representative who works exclusively for Moon Life Insurance. He wants to leave the company and become an independent representative. He knows that before he branches out on his own, he needs to ensure he has sufficient liability insurance.

Which of the following statements about his professional liability insurance is CORRECT?

- A. This insurance covers gross faults committed by an insurance representative.
- B. If a contract has a deductible, it may not exceed $20,000.
- C. His liability insurance must have coverage of not less than $1,500,000 per claim.
- D. Professional liability insurance covers fraud or misappropriation.

Answer: B

Explanation:

For an insurance representative such as Everett who intends to transition to an independent role, maintaining adequate professional liability insurance is crucial. According to LLQP guidelines, the requirements for liability insurance coverage mandate that if the policy includes a deductible, it cannot exceed $20,000 per claim. This limit helps ensure that insurance representatives can reasonably cover the deductible amount without facing significant financial hardship in case of a claim.

Regarding the other answer choices:

* A liability insurance policy is typically required to have a minimum coverage of $1,000,000 per claim, not $1,500,000.

* Professional liability insurance does not cover gross negligence, fraud, or intentional misconduct such as fraud or misappropriation. It is designed to cover errors, omissions, and negligence within the scope of professional duties, provided they are not intentional or fraudulent acts.

Therefore, option B accurately reflects LLQP stipulations regarding the deductible limit on professional liability insurance for insurance representatives.
