Salesforce Certified Data Architect Sample Questions (Q104-Q109):

NEW QUESTION # 104

Universal Containers (UC) management has identified a total of ten text fields on the Contact object as important to capture any changes made to these fields, such as who made the change, when they made the change, what is the old value, and what is the new value. UC needs to be able to report on these field data changes within Salesforce for the past 3 months. What are two approaches that will meet this requirement? Choose 2 answers

- A. Create a Contact report including these ten fields and Salesforce Id, then schedule the report to run once a day and send email to the admin.

- B. Write an Apex trigger on Contact after insert event and after update events and store the old values in another custom object.
- C. Turn on field Contact object history tracking for these ten fields, then create reports on contact history.
- D. Create a workflow to evaluate the rule when a record is created and use field update actions to store previous values for these ten fields in ten new fields.

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 105

DreamHouse Realty has a Salesforce deployment that manages Sales, Support, and Marketing efforts in a multi-system ERP environment. The company recently reached the limits of native reports and dashboards and needs options for providing more analytical insights.

What are two approaches an Architect should recommend? (Choose two.)

- A. AppExchange Apps
- B. Setup Audit Trails
- C. Einstein Analytics
- D. Weekly Snapshots

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Einstein Analytics can provide more analytical insights than native reports and dashboards by allowing users to explore data from multiple sources, create interactive visualizations, and apply AI-powered features⁵. AppExchange Apps can also provide more analytical insights by offering pre-built solutions or integrations with external tools that can enhance the reporting and analytics capabilities of Salesforce⁶.

NEW QUESTION # 106

Universal Containers (UC) has over 10 million accounts with an average of 20 opportunities with each account. A Sales Executive at UC needs to generate a daily report for all opportunities in a specific opportunity stage.

Which two key considerations should be made to make sure the performance of the report is not degraded due to large data volume?

- A. Number of joins used in report query.
- B. Number of records returned by report query.
- C. Number of characters in report query.
- D. Number of queries running at a time.

Answer: A,B

NEW QUESTION # 107

UC migrating 100,000 Accounts from an enterprise resource planning (ERP) to salesforce and is concerned about ownership skew and performance.

Which 3 recommendations should a data architect provide to prevent ownership skew?

Choose 3 answers:

- A. Assign "view all" permission on profile to give access to account.
- B. Assign a default user as owner of account and do not assign any role to default user.
- C. Keep users out of public groups that can be used as the source for sharing rules.
- D. Assign a default user as owner of accounts and assigned top most role in hierarchy.
- E. Assigned a default user as owner of accounts, and assign role in hierarchy.

Answer: B,C,D

NEW QUESTION # 108

UC is building a salesforce application to track contacts and their respective conferences that they have attended with the following requirements:

1. Contacts will be stored in the standard contact object.
 2. Conferences will be stored in a custom conference_c object.
 3. Each contact may attend multiple conferences and each conference may be related to multiple contacts.
- How should a data architect model the relationship between the contact and conference objects?

- A. Create a lookup relationship field on contact object.
- B. Create a master detail relationship field on the Contact object.
- C. Create a master detail relationship field on the Conference object.
- D. Implement a Contact Conference junction object with master detail relationship to both contact and conference_c

Answer: D

Explanation:

Implementing a Contact Conference junction object with master detail relationship to both contact and conference_c is the correct way to model the relationship between the contact and conference objects, as it allows a many-to-many relationship between them. This means that each contact can attend multiple conferences, and each conference can be related to multiple contacts. Creating a master detail relationship field on either the contact or the conference object would create a one-to-many relationship, which does not meet the requirements. Creating a lookup relationship field on contact object would also create a one-to-many relationship, and would not enforce referential integrity.
