問題 #280

Universal Container wants customers to be able to open cases from a public-facing website. What should the app builder use to enable visitors to the website?

- A. Web-to-case
- B. Outbound message
- C. Email-to-case
- D. Screen flow

答案：A

解題說明:

Explanation

The app builder should use Web-to-Case to enable visitors to the website to open cases. Web-to-Case is a feature that allows users to create an HTML form that can be embedded into a public-facing website. When visitors fill out and submit the form, a new case is automatically created in Salesforce with the information from the form fields. Web-to-Case can also assign cases to queues or users based on predefined rules and criteria. Outbound message is not a valid tool, as it does not enable visitors to open cases. An outbound message is a type of workflow action that sends a secure XML message to a designated endpoint URL when a record meets certain criteria. An outbound message can be used to integrate Salesforce with external systems or applications. Screen flow is not a valid tool, as it does not enable visitors to open cases from a public-facing website. A screen flow is a type of flow that allows users to create an interactive guided process that can collect, display, and update data from multiple objects within Salesforce. A screen flow can be embedded into Lightning pages or Visualforce pages, but it cannot be exposed to unauthenticated users on a public website. Email-to-Case is not a valid tool, as it does not enable visitors to open cases from a website. Email-to-Case is a feature that allows users to create cases from email messages sent to a specific email address. Email-to-Case can also capture email attachments and thread information and associate them with the case.

問題 #284

At Universal Containers, each admin and developer use a separate developer pro sandbox. Configuration and code are then migrated to a partial data sandbox for combination and initial testing. Once approved the configuration and code are then migrated to a full sandbox for final toad and regression testing before going to production.

When should the full sandbox be refreshed?

- A. After user acceptance testing is complete.
- B. After a new user is added to production.
- C. After each major release to production.
- D. After each push from the partial data sandbox.

答案： C

解題說明：

The full sandbox should be refreshed after each major release to production. This way, the full sandbox will have the most updated data and metadata from the production org, and can be used for final load and regression testing before the next release. Option A is incorrect because refreshing the full sandbox after user acceptance testing is complete is not necessary, as user acceptance testing can be done in the partial data sandbox or the production org. Option B is incorrect because refreshing the full sandbox after each push from the partial data sandbox is not necessary, as the full sandbox can receive configuration and code changes from the partial data sandbox without refreshing. Option D is incorrect because refreshing the full sandbox after a new user is added to production is not necessary, as adding a new user does not affect the data and metadata in the full sandbox.
