Salesforce Certified Integration Architect Sample Questions (Q122-Q127):

NEW QUESTION # 122

An Integration Architect has designed a mobile application for Salesforce users to get data while on the road using a custom UI. The application is secured with OAuth and is currently functioning well. There is a new requirement where the mobile application needs to obtain the GPS coordinates and store it on a custom geolocation field.

The geolocation field is secured with Field Level Security, so users can view the value without changing it.

What should be done to meet the requirement?

- A. The mobile device makes a REST Apex inbound call.
- B. The mobile device makes a SOAP API inbound call.
The mobile device receives a REST Apex callout call.
- C. The mobile device makes a REST API inbound call.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 123

An integration architect has received a request to prevent employees that leave the company from accessing data in Salesforce after they are deactivated in the company's HR system.

What should the integration architect determine before recommending a solution?

- A. Data access prevention requirements, then identify frequency
- B. Data access prevention requirements, integration requirements, and system constraints
- C. Inbound integration requirements, then identify frequency

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 124

A company that is a leading provider of training delivers courses to students globally. The company decided to use customer community in order to allow students to log in to the community, register for courses and pay course fees. The company has a payment gateway that takes more than 30 seconds to process the payment transaction. Students would like to get the payment result in real-time so in case an error happens, the students can retry the payment process.

What is the recommended integration approach to process payments based on this requirement?

- A. Use platform event to process payment to the payment gateway.
- B. Use request and reply to make an API call to the payment gateway.
- C. Use continuation to process payment to the payment gateway.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

The continuation class in Apex allows you to make long-running requests to external web services and process their responses in a callback method. This is useful for scenarios where the response time exceeds the normal Apex limits, such as 10 seconds for synchronous transactions or 120 seconds for asynchronous transactions. By using continuation, you can avoid hitting these limits and provide a better user experience. References: Callout Limits and Limitations

NEW QUESTION # 125

An Integration Developer is developing an HR synchronization app for a client. The app synchronizes Salesforce record data changes with an HR system that's external to Salesforce.

What should the integration architect recommend to ensure notifications are stored for up to three days if data replication fails?

- A. Generic Events
- B. Callouts
- C. Change Data Capture
- D. Platform Events

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Change Data Capture is a feature that enables you to receive near-real-time changes of Salesforce records, including create, update, delete, and undelete operations. Change Data Capture retains change events in the event bus for up to three days, so you can resume data replication from the point of failure. Change Data Capture also provides a consistent and reliable way to synchronize data changes with external systems, without the need for custom triggers or code. #### NEW QUESTION # 126

Northern Trail Outfitters (NTO) wants to improve the quality of callouts from Salesforce to its REST APIs by adhering to RAML

(REST API Markup Language) specifications. The RAML specs serve as interface contracts. Which design specification should the integration architect include to ensure that Apex REST API Clients' unit tests confirm adherence to the RAML specs?

- A. Require the Apex REST API Clients to implement the HttpCalloutMock.
- B. Call the HttpCalloutMock implementation from the Apex REST API Clients.
- C. Call the Apex REST API Clients in a test context to get the mock response.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Salesforce, you cannot perform real HTTP callouts during unit tests. To test integration logic, developers must use the HttpCalloutMock interface to simulate the API's response. To ensure that the Apex code adheres to the RAML contract, the architect should require that the test mock implementation strictly follows the RAML specifications.

By requiring the Apex REST API Clients to implement the HttpCalloutMock (or more specifically, creating a mock class that implements it), the developer creates a controlled testing environment. The mock class should be coded to return a payload that matches the RAML-defined structure (fields, data types, and status codes). When the test runs, the Apex client receives this "contract-compliant" response. The unit test then uses assertions to verify that the Apex code correctly parses and handles this specific data structure.

Option B is technically imprecise; you don't "call" the mock from the client, you provide the mock to the test runtime using Test.setMock(). Option C describes the general process of testing but does not address the "design specification" needed to ensure contract adherence. By mandating a mock implementation that mirrors the RAML contract, the architect ensures that if the API contract changes in the RAML file, the unit tests will fail if the Apex code is not updated to match, thereby maintaining high integration quality and preventing runtime errors.
