CompTIA A+ Core 1 Exam (2026) Sample Questions (Q107-Q112):

NEW QUESTION # 107

A company deploys its infrastructure in self-operated data centers. The company recently migrated some of its applications to a public cloud. Which of the following most accurately describes the cloud model the company is following?

- A. Private
- B. Hybrid
- C. Community
- D. Public

Answer: B

Explanation:

A hybrid cloud combines private infrastructure (on-premises, self-operated data centers) with public cloud services, providing flexibility and scalability.

From CompTIA A+ 220-1101 Official Study Guide, Objective 3.7 - Cloud concepts:

"A hybrid cloud model integrates private and public cloud infrastructure to allow applications and data to be shared between them."

NEW QUESTION # 108

Which of the following connectors will uplink a new ISP cable modem to its wall jack?

- A. LC
- B. F-type
- C. Lightning
- D. RJ45

Answer: B

Explanation:

Cable modems use coaxial cable to connect to the wall jack, and the standard connector for coaxial cable in ISP cable installations is the F-type connector.

NEW QUESTION # 109

A technician is troubleshooting a PoE phone that will not turn on. When a laptop is plugged directly into the switchport for the phone the technician sees a data link LED and activity. Which of the following tools should the technician use to verify PoE availability to the phone?

- A. Loopback plug
- B. Cable tester
- C. Toner probe
- D. Network tap

Answer: B

Explanation:

Reasoning: A cable tester capable of testing Power over Ethernet (PoE) functionality can verify whether the switchport is providing the required power to the phone. This tool measures both the presence of data and the voltage or wattage being provided through the Ethernet cable.

This is the most effective way to confirm that PoE is available on the port.

Why the Other Options Are Incorrect:

A: Network tap:

A network tap is primarily used to monitor network traffic, not to test for PoE availability. It cannot verify if power is being supplied through the Ethernet cable.

C: Loopback plug:

A loopback plug is used to test the functionality of a network port by creating a loop for transmitted and received signals. It does not measure or verify PoE availability.

D: Toner probe:

A toner probe is used for tracing and identifying network cables. It cannot test for PoE functionality.

Practical Example:

A PoE phone might not turn on due to a misconfigured or faulty switchport. Using a cable tester capable of measuring PoE would help the technician determine if the switchport is supplying sufficient power to the phone.

CompTIA A+ Exam Objective Alignment:

Objective 2.1: Identify common networking hardware and tools, including PoE-enabled devices and cable testers.

NEW QUESTION # 110

A technician is evaluating how to connect a power-redundant server to the outlets of a rack. Which of the following is the best way to provide electricity to the server?

- A. Identifying available power outlets in different UPSs and distributing the connection between them
- B. Leaving one of the power supplies disconnected for use in case the other fails
- C. Using only one power outlet, as the system will provide energy to the redundant source
- D. Connecting the device to one dedicated battery backup to provide continuous energy

Answer: A

Explanation:

A power-redundant server typically has two power supplies so the system can continue operating if one power supply or one power feed fails. To gain the full benefit of redundancy, each PSU should be connected to independent power sources—commonly separate PDUs that are backed by different UPS units (and ideally separate circuits). This design removes a single point of failure: if one UPS Comprehensive and Detailed 150 to 250 words of Explanation From CompTIA Core 1 Knowledge trips, fails, or is taken offline for maintenance, the other UPS still provides power and the server stays online.

Option C is best because it explicitly describes distributing the connections across different UPSs, which is the correct redundancy practice in a rack environment. Option A defeats redundancy because a single outlet /UPS failure would still bring the server down. Option B also wastes redundancy and can cause immediate downtime if the connected PSU fails, since the second PSU isn't actively providing standby power. Option D still leaves a single UPS as the single point of failure. Therefore, splitting the two PSU power cords across separate UPS-backed outlets is the best approach.

NEW QUESTION # 111

A company wants to have fast read speeds for its locally stored data.

a. Which of the following configurations has the lowest cost to fulfill this requirement?

- A. RAID 1
- B. RAID 5
- C. RAID 10
- D. RAID 0

Answer: D

Explanation:

RAID 0 (striping) provides the fastest read (and write) speeds at the lowest cost, as all disk capacity is used for storage and performance. However, it offers no redundancy.

From CompTIA A+ 220-1101 Official Study Guide, Objective 3.4 - RAID types:

"RAID 0 stripes data across multiple disks, offering the best performance and lowest cost but no fault tolerance." Verified Source: CompTIA A+ Core 1 (220-1101) Official Study Guide, Chapter 3: RAID Levels CompTIA Exam Objectives 220-1101, Domain 3.4
