IIBA Entry Certificate in Business Analysis (ECBA) Sample Questions (Q77-Q82):

NEW QUESTION # 77

What is used for quality control when verifying requirements and designs?

- A. Checklist
- B. Item tracking
- C. Review
- D. Test case

Answer: A

Explanation:

A checklist is a quality control tool used to ensure that requirements and designs meet specific criteria before they are finalized. It helps analysts systematically verify completeness, correctness, clarity, feasibility, and testability of requirements or design elements. Checklists serve as a structured way to reduce omissions and improve quality during the verification process.

Used during:

Requirements validation

Design reviews

Peer and stakeholder reviews

BABOK Reference:

Located in the Requirements and Design Definition knowledge area, specifically under "Verify Requirements," where checklists are mentioned as a technique for ensuring quality and completeness.

NEW QUESTION # 78

Which of the following is an input to the prepare for elicitation task?

- A. Elicitation activity plan
- B. Set up logistics
- C. Needs
- D. Potential value

Answer: C

Explanation:

The input to the 'prepare for elicitation' task is 'Needs'. This involves understanding the business needs which define the scope and purpose of the elicitation activities. It is crucial for the business analyst to comprehend these needs to ensure that the elicitation efforts are aligned with the business objectives and that the right stakeholders are engaged in the process.

References: The 'prepare for elicitation' task and its inputs are discussed within the Business Analysis Body of Knowledge (BABOK) guide, which serves as a standard for the practice of business analysis. The guide outlines the necessary inputs and techniques for effective elicitation¹²³.

"Needs" is an input to the "Prepare for Elicitation" task. This guides the preparation in terms of the scope and purpose of elicitation activities. Even if the specific needs have not been fully elicited or understood, there must be some initial recognition of needs to commence the elicitation process. Understanding these needs helps in planning the elicitation approach, selecting appropriate techniques, and ensuring that the elicitation activities are aligned with addressing these needs effectively .
