What Career Opportunities Can a Certified Specialist Have?

Once you pass the Cisco ENAUTO 300-435 Exam, you will verify the ability to solve issues using both local and wide networks in the enterprise. Also, you will become a valuable professional for many recruiters who are looking for a skilled network architect or engineer. Once specialist gets certified, it makes it more suitable to apply for the following roles in international organizations:

- Network architect
- Network administrator up to 83
- Senior network engineer
- Network professional

According to Payscale.com, the average salary that a Network professional can earn in one year is $95k. Annual compensation for network administrators is up to $83k. Also, if you want to work as a Senior Network Engineer, then you can receive an offer of $100k per annum. A Network Architect is better paid having around $121k in one year.

Notice, that the certificate you go for will also broaden the list of available jobs and will specify it better. Thus, with the CCNP Enterprise, one can also become an enterprise architect, enterprise network analyst, or infrastructure engineer, among the rest. On the other hand, the DevNet Professional certification allows one to land a job as a systems architect, software engineer, and consulting engineer, to name a few.
