NCLEX National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) Sample Questions (Q265-Q270):

NEW QUESTION # 265

An 11-year-old boy has received a partial-thickness burn to both legs. He presents to the emergency room approximately 15 minutes after the accident in excruciating pain with charred clothing to both legs. What is the first nursing action?

- A. Apply ice packs to both legs.
- B. Immerse both legs in cool water.
- C. Apply Silvadene cream (silver sulfadiazine).
- D. Begin debridement by removing all charred clothing from wound.

Answer: B

Explanation:

(A)

Ice creates a dramatic temperature change in the tissue, which can cause further thermal injury. (B) Charred clothing should not be removed from wound first. This creates further tissue damage. Debridement is not the first nursing action. (C) Applying silver sulfadiazine cream first insulates heat in injured tissue and increases potential for infection.

(D)

Emergency care of a thermal burn is immersing both legs in cool water. Cool water permits gradual temperature change and prevents further thermal damage.

NEW QUESTION # 266

A primigravida is at term. The nurse can recognize the second stage of labor by the client's desire to:

- A. Hyperventilate during contractions
- B. Push during contractions
- C. Walk between contractions
- D. Relax during contractions

Answer: B

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set C

Explanation:

(A) The second stage of labor is characterized by uterine contractions, which cause the client to bear down. (B) Slow, deep, rhythmic breathing facilitates the laboring process. Hyperventilation is abnormal breathing resulting from loss of pain control. (C) The client should remain on bed rest during labor. (D) Contractions result in discomfort.

NEW QUESTION # 267

On an assessment of a client's mouth, the nurse notices white patches on the buccal mucosa. The nurse tries to obtain a sample for a culture, but the lesion cannot be rubbed off. The nurse would suspect that this lesion is:

- A. Stomatitis
- B. Xerostomia
- C. Candidiasis
- D. Leukoplakia

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Xerostomia is dry mouth. (B) Candidiasis can be rubbed off, but it will bleed. (C) Leukoplakia cannot be rubbed off. (D) Stomatitis is caused by candidiasis and gram-negative bacteria.

NEW QUESTION # 268

Which of the following menu choices would indicate that a client with pressure ulcers understands the role diet plays in restoring her albumin levels?

- A. Lasagna with garlic bread
- B. Cauliflower and lettuce salad
- C. Broiled fish with rice
- D. Bran flakes with fresh peaches

Answer: C

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set B

Explanation:

(A) Broiled fish and rice are both excellent sources of protein. (B) Fresh fruits are not a good source of protein.

(C) Foods in the bread group are not high in protein. (D) Most vegetables are not high in protein; peas and beans are the major vegetables higher in protein.

NEW QUESTION # 269

A 10-year-old boy has been diagnosed with Legg-Calve Perthes disease. Which of the client's responses would indicate compliance during initial therapy?

- A. Walking short distances 3 times/day
- B. Putting self on weight reduction diet
- C. Drinking large amounts of milk
- D. Not bearing weight on affected extremity

Answer: D

Explanation:

(A) This condition causes aseptic necrosis of the head of the femur in the acetabulum. Drinking large quantities of milk at this time cannot hasten recovery. (B) The aim of treatment is to keep the head of the femur in the acetabulum. Non-weight-bearing is essential. Activity causes microfractures of the epiphysis. (C) In addition to non-weightbearing, clients are often placed on bedrest, which helps to reduce inflammation. Later, active motion is encouraged. (D) Weight is not generally an issue with this disease. Slipped femoral capital epiphysis, which is most frequently observed in obese pubescent children, usually requires a weight reduction diet.
