What legal authority does the donee receive under the protection mandate in Quebec?

- A. The authority to make decisions and to perform certain actions on behalf of the donor if they become incapacitated.
- B. The authority to get the will probated and take all the necessary steps for its execution.
- C. The authority to make decisions and to perform certain action on behalf of the donor while they are capable.
- D. The authority to administrator and distribute the assets in the estate of a deceased after death.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Quebec, the concept of a protection mandate (also known as a "mandate in case of incapacity") allows a person (the donor) to appoint someone (the mandatory or donee) to act on their behalf if they become unable to do so. The legal authority granted under this mandate encompasses decision-making and taking actions on behalf of the donor when they are incapacitated, ensuring their personal, medical, and financial interests are protected.

* Purpose: The primary purpose of the protection mandate is to prepare for a scenario where the donor loses their mental or physical capacity to manage their own affairs. It is a proactive measure for managing one's personal care and assets.

* Scope of Authority:

* The mandatory gains authority to make personal and financial decisions once the incapacity of the donor is confirmed, usually by a medical and legal process.

* The decisions may include managing bank accounts, paying bills, handling investments, and making healthcare decisions on behalf of the donor.

* Validation Requirement: The mandate only comes into effect after a formal validation process involving legal authorities to confirm the donor's incapacity.

* Legal Framework: The Quebec Civil Code governs the creation and execution of a protection mandate, ensuring the mandatory acts in the best interest of the incapacitated individual.

* The protection mandate specifically applies in cases where the donor is incapacitated. It grants the donee authority to manage aspects of the donor's life that they can no longer handle themselves.

* Options A, C, and D refer to different legal instruments or scenarios, such as probating a will (A), acting while the donor is capable (C), or estate administration after death (D), none of which are relevant under a protection mandate in Quebec.

NEW QUESTION # 36

What is the measure of risk commonly applied to portfolio and to individual securities within that portfolio?

- A. Beta
- B. Standard Deviation.
- C. Alpha
- D. Correlation.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Standard deviation measures the dispersion or variability of returns around the mean of a portfolio or security's historical performance. It is a widely used statistical metric in finance to assess risk, as it captures the degree to which returns can deviate from their expected value. A high standard deviation indicates higher risk, reflecting greater volatility in returns, while a low standard deviation suggests more stable performance.

Beta measures market risk relative to a benchmark, correlation measures the relationship between securities, and alpha represents excess return above a benchmark. However, standard deviation is the most common measure of total risk applicable to portfolios and individual securities.
