IIBA Entry Certificate in Business Analysis (ECBA) Sample Questions (Q94-Q99):

NEW QUESTION # 94

The task that uses the elicitation activity plan to draw out, explore and identify information relevant to the change is:

- A. conduct elicitation.
- B. prepare for elicitation.
- C. confirm elicitation results.
- D. plan business analysis information.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The task that uses the "Elicitation Activity Plan" to draw out, explore, and identify information relevant to the change is "Conduct Elicitation." This task involves direct interaction with stakeholders or independent research to understand stakeholder needs and identify potential solutions that may meet those needs. The Elicitation Activity Plan guides the business analyst through the planned elicitation activities, ensuring that the elicitation is focused, efficient, and aligned with the project objectives. This structured approach to elicitation helps in gathering relevant and accurate information, which is essential for the success of the change initiative .

NEW QUESTION # 95

In which requirements prioritization factor would time-to-market scenarios apply?

- A. Cost
- B. Regulatory or policy compliance
- C. Stability
- D. Time sensitivity

Answer: D

Explanation:

In requirements prioritization, time-to-market scenarios fall under the factor of time sensitivity. Time sensitivity refers to the degree to which a requirement's value diminishes or increases based on when it is delivered. In markets where early entry provides competitive advantage, such as product launches or regulatory compliance deadlines, prioritizing based on time sensitivity ensures that high-impact, time-critical features are delivered first.

Examples include:

Product launch features that must be ready by a specific market date

Functionalities tied to regulatory deadlines

Seasonal campaign support systems

BABOK Reference:

This is covered under the Requirements Life Cycle Management knowledge area, specifically in the task "Prioritize Requirements," where time sensitivity is listed as one of the prioritization criteria along with cost, risk, and regulatory factors.

NEW QUESTION # 96

In planning an information management approach, what input element indicates the current status of stored information?

- A. Repository
- B. Storage decision
- C. Tool
- D. Organizational standard

Answer: A

Explanation:

In planning an information management approach, a repository is the input element that indicates the current status of stored information. A repository provides a centralized location where information is stored, managed, and retrieved. It gives a clear picture of the current data landscape, including what data is available, how it is organized, and how it can be accessed. This is crucial for effective information management as it helps in assessing the completeness, accuracy, and relevance of the information stored.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which of the following is a common change that can be made to a process in order to improve it?

- A. Generate and evaluate options
- B. Analyze the potential impact of the change
- C. Understand the relationship between gaps and improvement areas
- D. Automate steps that are more routine and predictable

Answer: D

Explanation:

Automating steps that are more routine and predictable is a common change made to improve a process. This approach helps in reducing human errors, speeding up the process, and freeing up human resources to focus on more complex tasks. Automation ensures consistency and reliability in the execution of routine tasks, leading to increased efficiency and productivity within the process. For example, implementing workflow management systems or straight-through processing can significantly enhance the efficiency of business operations.

NEW QUESTION # 98

Which of the following is an activity that a business analyst (BA) performs to prepare for elicitation?

- A. Analyze performance measures
- B. Trace requirements
- C. Assess risk
- D. Secure supporting material

Answer: D

Explanation:

In preparation for elicitation, a business analyst secures supporting material which is essential for the elicitation activities. This involves identifying and procuring all necessary information and resources that will be used during these activities. It includes gathering documents, systems information, historical data, and any other relevant materials that will support the elicitation process.

References: The BABOK Guide emphasizes the importance of securing supporting materials as part of the preparation for elicitation. This step ensures that the business analyst has all the necessary tools and information to effectively conduct elicitation activities1.
