NEW QUESTION # 119

Counselors who are not effective in counseling members of minoritized groups typically

- A. emphasize both individual and group differences.
- B. rely on rigid use of techniques and activities.
- C. use a variety of verbal and nonverbal communication styles.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Ineffective counselors working with clients from minoritized groups often rely on rigid, inflexible use of counseling techniques and activities. This approach does not take into account cultural values, beliefs, and communication styles unique to diverse populations, resulting in poor rapport and outcomes. Effective multicultural counselors adapt their methods and understand the importance of cultural context.

A counselor familiar with stage development theory of a counseling group would expect members in the final stages of a group to be

- A. assisting in development of group goals.
- B. taking active steps to express negative feelings.
- C. evaluating the personal impact of the group.

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to group stage development theory (e.g., Corey), in the final or termination stage of group counseling, members typically reflect on and evaluate the personal impact of the group experience. They review progress, consolidate learning, and plan for continued growth after the group ends.

NEW QUESTION # 121

What allows professional counselors to diagnose emotional and mental disorders?

- A. reading the DSM-5-TR
- B. a counseling class
- C. adequate training

Answer: C

Explanation:

Adequate training is required for professional counselors to diagnose emotional and mental disorders. This involves specialized education, supervised experience, and ongoing professional development in assessment and diagnosis, rather than simply attending a single class or reading diagnostic manuals. Proper training ensures ethical and accurate practice within the counselor's scope of competence.

NEW QUESTION # 122

Which of the following most accurately defines what group counselors mean by the term clarifying?

- A. helping members sort through conflicting feelings
- B. offering plausible explanations for certain behaviors
- C. encouraging clients to assess problems realistically

Answer: A

Explanation:

In group counseling, clarifying involves helping members sort through and articulate their thoughts and conflicting feelings. This process assists members in gaining a clearer understanding of themselves and the issues they are facing, which supports more effective group work and personal growth. "Clarifying is used by counselors to assist clients or group members in sorting through confusion, particularly when they have conflicting feelings or thoughts." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; Corey, G. (2016). Theory and Practice of Group Counseling (9th Edition).

NEW QUESTION # 123

According to developmental theorists such as Kohlberg and Piaget, as children grow older, effective parental methods of discipline shift to

- A. use of more reasoning and less punishment.
- B. become more defined and confrontational.
- C. greater use of environmental restriction to instill respect.

Answer: A

Explanation:

As children mature cognitively, especially as described by Piaget and Kohlberg, effective discipline shifts from strict control and punishment to increased use of reasoning and explanation. Parents are encouraged to explain rules and consequences, fostering moral understanding and internalization of values, rather than relying on punitive measures. This approach is supported in the CPCE study literature: "As children develop cognitively, effective discipline relies more on reasoning and discussion than on punishment, supporting the growth of moral and logical thinking." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; Gladding, S. T. (2018). Counseling: A Comprehensive Profession (8th Edition).
