BCI Certificate of the Business Continuity Institute (CBCI) Sample Questions (Q23-Q28):

NEW QUESTION # 23

Which of the following statements about the methods used to collect information following an exercise is correct?

- A. One-on-one interviews with all exercise participants should be conducted within one month following the exercise
- B. A hot debrief should be conducted within one month after the conclusion of an exercise
- C. Only senior level exercise participants should provide opinions during the debrief
- D. Surveys are especially effective if an exercise and its participants are spread out over multiple locations

Answer: D

Explanation:

Surveys are a practical and efficient way to collect feedback from participants who may be geographically dispersed or involved in staggered exercise sessions. The CBCI 7.0 course emphasizes that surveys enable broad participation and timely input collection, which can be crucial when participants cannot all meet in person or at the same time. Hot debriefs are typically immediate post-exercise discussions, not extended over a month. One-on-one interviews and limiting input to senior personnel restrict breadth and may delay feedback.

NEW QUESTION # 24

Which of the following is an outcome of personnel embracing Business Continuity and the organization's Business Continuity Management System (BCMS)?

- A. Increased sales of products and services due to public confidence in the published information about the organization's resilience capability
- B. Validation of plans is no longer needed due to the high level of commitment from relevant personnel to their effective implementation
- C. A Business Continuity programme that is tailored specifically for the organization, taking into account its organizational culture
- D. A reduction in the need to update and review the BCMS due to the commitment of personnel in the development stage

Answer: C

Explanation:

Personnel embracing Business Continuity fosters a culture that supports the design and implementation of a BCMS tailored to the organization's unique culture, risks, and operational realities. The CBCI 7.0 course underscores that when personnel actively engage with continuity practices, the BCMS reflects actual organizational needs, leading to practical, accepted, and effective continuity programs. Commitment does not reduce the necessity for regular updates or validation; instead, it enhances the quality and relevance of those processes. While public confidence may improve indirectly, the key outcome is the fit-for-purpose nature of the BCMS driven by engaged personnel.

NEW QUESTION # 25

Analysing information about how an organization has responded to incidents, including engagement with those impacted and its approach to responsibility, can provide insight into the organization's:

- A. Culture
- B. Business plan
- C. Business targets
- D. Structure

Answer: A

Explanation:

Understanding an organization's response to incidents-particularly how it engages with affected parties and manages accountability-offers a window into its organizational culture. Culture reflects shared values, beliefs, and behaviors within an organization, influencing how risks are perceived and managed. The CBCI

7.0 course emphasizes that a strong Business Continuity culture ensures personnel are proactive in managing disruptions and responsible for their roles in response plans. Analysing incident responses reveals this underlying culture by showing commitment levels, openness to learning, and responsibility allocation, which collectively shape resilience. This insight is crucial because culture directly affects the effectiveness of the Business Continuity Management System (BCMS), as a positive culture fosters cooperation and adherence to continuity plans, while a weak culture may reveal gaps in preparedness and commitment.

NEW QUESTION # 26

When establishing governance for a Business Continuity Management System (BCMS), which of the following will be responsible for developing and communicating the Business Continuity policy and for promoting a Business Continuity culture by leading by example?

- A. Departmental Representatives
- B. Business Continuity Professional
- C. Top Management
- D. Business Continuity Plan Owners

Answer: C

Explanation:

Top management holds the ultimate responsibility for developing and endorsing the Business Continuity policy and fostering a culture of continuity within the organization. The CBCI 7.0 course emphasizes that leadership commitment is crucial for the BCMS's success, as top management's active involvement sets expectations, allocates resources, and leads by example. Their role extends beyond policy approval to include visible support and communication to embed Business Continuity values across all levels. Other roles such as plan owners and professionals support implementation but do not carry this overarching governance responsibility.

NEW QUESTION # 27

During a discussion-based exercise, the exercise facilitator is notified of a threat that could compromise participant safety. The facilitator's next step will be:

- A. Begin gathering more details about the situation
- B. Continue with the exercise unless otherwise notified
- C. Call a short break to allow time to determine how to proceed
- D. Use a pre-determined code word to notify all participants of suspension of the exercise

Answer: D

Explanation:

Participant safety is paramount during all exercises. The CBCI 7.0 course mandates that facilitators use pre-determined code words or signals to immediately and discreetly communicate the suspension of an exercise if a real threat to safety emerges. This protocol ensures that all participants receive a clear, consistent message to halt activities without causing panic or confusion. Gathering more details or calling a break delays decisive action and risks exposure. Continuing the exercise despite threats is unacceptable and breaches duty of care.

Pre-established emergency communication protocols allow swift, safe responses that prioritize participant well-being above all else.
