NEW QUESTION # 223

Which database transaction property ensures that individual transactions are executed only once and either succeed in their entirety or roll back?

- A. atomicity
- B. consistency

- C. durability
- D. isolation

Answer: A

Explanation:
Database transactions follow the ACID properties:
* Atomicity # Ensures that each transaction is treated as a single "all-or-nothing" unit of work. Either the entire transaction is completed, or none of it is applied. This guarantees that transactions are executed only once and rolled back completely if they fail.
* Consistency # Ensures that a transaction brings the database from one valid state to another, preserving integrity constraints.
* Isolation # Ensures that concurrent transactions do not interfere with each other.
* Durability # Ensures that once a transaction is committed, it remains permanent even in case of system failure.
Thus, the correct property here is Atomicity.
