NEW QUESTION # 114

Which team type is organized to assist other teams with specialized capabilities and help them become more proficient in new technologies?

- A. Stream-aligned team
- B. Enabling team
- C. Complicated subsystem team
- D. Platform team

Answer: B

Explanation:

Enabling teams are one of the four team topologies defined by Skelton and Pais in their book Team Topologies. They are organized to assist other teams with specialized capabilities and help them become more proficient in new technologies. They provide guidance, coaching, and mentoring to stream-aligned teams, platform teams, or complicated subsystem teams, and help them adopt new practices, tools, or frameworks.

They also collaborate with them to deliver specific features or components that require their expertise.

Enabling teams are temporary and dissolve once their mission is accomplished or no longer needed. References: Organizing Agile Teams and ARTs: Team Topologies at Scale, Team Topologies at Scale: A Worked Example, Exam Study Guide: SP (6.0) - SAFe Practitioner

NEW QUESTION # 115

What is one method for reducing queue length?

- A. Commit to deliver value by a specific date
- B. Lengthen Iteration timeboxes
- C. Resize the work
- D. Leave capacity for newly emerging priorities

Answer: C

Explanation:

Resizing the work is one method for reducing queue length in SAFe. Queue length is the number of work items waiting to be processed in a system. Reducing queue length can improve flow, reduce cycle time, and increase throughput. Resizing the work means breaking down large work items into smaller ones that can be completed faster and with less variability. Smaller work items also reduce the risk of rework, defects, and delays. Resizing the work can be done at any level of SAFe, from portfolio epics to team stories. SAFe provides several techniques for resizing the work, such as Weighted Shortest Job First (WSJF), Minimum Marketable Features (MMFs), Minimum Viable Products (MVPs), and Spikes¹. NEW QUESTION # 118

What does a program board help teams identify?

- A. Each teams tasks
- B. Dependencies between teams
- C. Program-level risks
- D. Work breakdowns

Answer: B

Explanation:

A program board is a visual summary of the features or goals, when they need to be reached, and any cross- team dependencies impacting their delivery. The program board helps teams within the Agile Release Train (ART) to coordinate their work and communicate their plan to the entire organization. One of the main purposes of the program board is to help teams identify and manage dependencies between teams, which can affect the delivery of value and increase the risk of delays or failures. By visualizing and tracking dependencies on the program board, teams can avoid or resolve them during the Program Increment (PI) planning event or throughout the PI execution.
