Palo Alto Networks Cloud Security Professional Sample Questions (Q222-Q227):

NEW QUESTION # 222

Given the following JSON query:

```
$.resource[*].aws_s3_bucket exists
```

Which tab is the correct place to add the JSON query when creating a Config policy?

- A. Details
- B. Compliance Standards
- C. Remediation
- D. Build Your Rule (Run tab)
- E. Build Your Rule (Build tab)

Answer: E

Explanation:

When creating a Config policy in Prisma Cloud and incorporating a JSON query, the correct place to add this query is under the "Build Your Rule (Build tab)" (Option E). This section allows users to define the criteria and conditions for the policy, including specifying JSON or RQL (Resource Query Language) queries that articulate the policy's logic. The "Details" (Option A) tab is typically used for general information about the policy, such as its name and description. The "Compliance Standards" (Option B) tab is for associating the policy with specific compliance frameworks. The "Remediation" (Option C) tab provides guidance on how to remediate any issues detected by the policy. The "Build Your Rule (Run tab)" (Option D) is not a standard option in Prisma Cloud policy configuration.

NEW QUESTION # 223

In Prisma Cloud Software Release 22.06 (Kepler), which Registry type is added?

- A. Sonatype Nexus
- B. IBM Cloud Container Registry
- C. Google Artifact Registry
- D. Azure Container Registry

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the Prisma Cloud Software Release 22.06, referred to as the Kepler release, the addition of Google Artifact Registry as a supported Registry type was a significant update. Google Artifact Registry is designed to store, manage, and secure your container images and language packages (such as Maven and npm). It provides a single place for teams to manage their artifacts and dependencies, improving consistency and security across software development and deployment processes. This update in Prisma Cloud reflects the platform's commitment to supporting the latest cloud-native technologies and services, enhancing its capabilities in securing modern cloud environments.

NEW QUESTION # 224

Which three serverless runtimes are supported by Prisma Cloud for vulnerability and compliance scans? (Choose three.)

- A. Python
- B. Dart
- C. Node.js
- D. Swift
- E. Java

Answer: A,C,E

Explanation:

Prisma Cloud supports several serverless runtimes for vulnerability and compliance scans, including Python, Java, and Node.js. These runtimes are widely used in the development of serverless applications, which are designed to run in stateless compute containers that are event-triggered and fully managed by cloud services.

By providing vulnerability and compliance scans for these serverless runtimes, Prisma Cloud helps organizations identify and remediate security issues within their serverless applications, ensuring that they adhere to security best practices and compliance standards. This capability is crucial for maintaining the security and integrity of serverless architectures, where traditional security approaches may not be applicable.

NEW QUESTION # 225

Where can a user submit an external new feature request?

- A. Feature Request
- B. Support Portal
- C. Help Center
- D. Aha

Answer: D

Explanation:

<https://prismacloud.ideas.aha.io/ideas>

To submit an external new feature request for Prisma Cloud, users can utilize the Aha platform. By accessing the Palo Alto Networks Aha portal, users can submit their feature requests, suggest enhancements, and contribute to shaping the future of Prisma Cloud. Aha provides a structured way to collect and prioritize customer feedback, ensuring that valuable insights reach the product development teams.

For those seeking to propose new features or improvements, visiting the Aha portal and submitting their ideas is the recommended approach. It allows users to participate in the ongoing evolution of Prisma Cloud by sharing their requirements and vision for the platform.

NEW QUESTION # 226

The Prisma Cloud administrator has configured a new policy.

Which steps should be used to assign this policy to a compliance standard?

- A. Open the Compliance Standards section of the policy, and then save.
- B. Create the Compliance Standard from Compliance tab, and then select Add to Policy.
- C. Edit the policy, go to step 3 (Compliance Standards), click + at the bottom, select the compliance standard, fill in the other boxes, and then click Confirm.
- D. Custom policies cannot be added to existing standards.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To assign a new policy to a compliance standard in Prisma Cloud, the administrator needs to edit the policy and navigate to the step where compliance standards are managed. By clicking the '+' button, the administrator can add the policy to a specific compliance standard, provide necessary details, and confirm the assignment. This integrates the custom policy into the chosen compliance standard, ensuring that compliance checks include the newly defined policy criteria.
