What detailed population projection technique can be used to project growth based on the current age levels and the rates of migration, births, and deaths over time?

- A. Economic-based model
- B. Gompertz Curve
- C. Modified Exponential Curve
- D. Cohort Survival

Answer: D

Explanation:

The cohort survival method projects population growth by analyzing age cohorts and applying rates of births, deaths, and migration over time, making it a detailed and demographic-focused technique. Option C (Cohort Survival) matches this description. The APA's AICP Certification Exam Content Outline(2022), under

"Research and Assessment Methods," defines cohort survival as "a method that projects population by age cohort, factoring in births, deaths, and migration rates." Option A (economic-based model) focuses on economic factors, not demographics. Options B (Modified Exponential Curve) and D (Gompertz Curve) are mathematical models for growth trends, not detailed demographic projections. The CPC Study Manual(2024) states, "Cohort survival is the standard method for detailed population projections, using age cohorts and rates of births, deaths, and migration," supporting option C.

- B. Organizing city form through the design of the city's landscape, rather than buildings.
- C. Creating garden cities on the suburban fringe of metropolitan areas.
- D. Tree planting programs along major boulevards and local residential streets.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Landscape Urbanism, a theory emerging in the late 20th century, prioritizes landscape as the primary organizing element of urban form, over buildings or infrastructure. Option C (organizing city form through the design of the city's landscape) is correct. The APA's AICP Certification Exam Content Outline(2022), under "Fundamental Planning Knowledge," defines Landscape Urbanism as "a design approach that organizes urban form through landscape systems, rather than architectural structures." Option A (site-specific requirements) is too narrow. Option B (tree planting) is a specific action, not a theory. Option D (garden cities) refers to Ebenezer Howard's earlier concept. The CPC Study Manual(2024) confirms, "Landscape Urbanism focuses on using landscape to structure city form, prioritizing natural systems," supporting option C.
