ISC Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) Sample Questions (Q956-Q961):

NEW QUESTION # 956

What is the MOST important factor in establishing an effective Information Security Awareness Program?

- A. Hang information security posters on the walls.
- B. Conduct an annual security awareness event.
- C. Obtain management buy-in.
- D. Mandate security training.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Management buy-in is crucial because it ensures that the information security awareness program is taken seriously across the organization. When management supports and prioritizes the program, it is more likely to receive the necessary resources, attention, and participation from employees. Without management's backing, other efforts like conducting events or mandating training may not be as effective or sustainable.

NEW QUESTION # 957

Which of the following is the MOST secure network access control procedure to adopt when using a callback device?

- A. The user enters a userid and PIN, and the device calls back the telephone number that corresponds to the userid.
- B. The user enters the telephone number, and the device responds with a challenge.
- C. The user enters the telephone number, and the device verifies that the number exists in its database before calling back.
- D. The user enters a userid, PIN, and telephone number, and the device calls back the telephone number entered.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Usually a request for a username and password takes place and the NAS may hang up the call in order to call the user back at a predefined phone number. This is a security activity that is used to try and ensure that only authenticated users are given access to the network and it reverse the long distance charges back to the company...However, this security measure can be compromised if someone implements call forwarding. - Shon Harris All-in-one CISSP Certification Guide pg 463

Who is essential for developing effective test scenarios for disaster recovery (DR) test plans?

- A. DR manager and IT staff members
- B. Chief Information Officer (CIO) and DR manager
- C. Business line management and IT staff members
- D. IT staff members and project managers

Answer: C

Explanation:

Business line management and IT staff members are essential for developing effective test scenarios for DR test plans. Business line management can provide the business requirements, priorities, and impact analysis for the critical processes and functions that need to be recovered in the event of a disaster. IT staff members can provide the technical expertise, resources, and support for the recovery of the IT infrastructure and systems. Together, they can design realistic and comprehensive test scenarios that can validate the effectiveness and readiness of the DR plan.
