Salesforce Certified B2C Commerce Architect Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26

The client provided these business requirements:

- * The B2C Commerce platform will integrate with the Client's Order Management System (OMS).
- * The OMS supports Integration using REST services.
- * The OMS is hosted on the Client's infrastructure.

What configurations are needed for this integration with the OMS?

- A. A service configuration, a service profile configuration, and a user credential configuration.
- B. A service configuration, a hostname alias configuration, and a user credential configuration.
- C. A service configuration, a service profile configuration, and a service credential configuration.
- D. A service profile configuration, a WAF configuration, and a service credential configuration.

Answer: C

Explanation:

For integrating the B2C Commerce platform with the client's OMS using REST services, the required configurations include:

- * Service Configuration: This specifies the service endpoints, HTTP methods, and any other service-specific settings necessary for the integration.
 - * Service Profile Configuration: This defines the behavior of the service such as timeout settings, retry logic, and cache settings.
 - * Service Credential Configuration: This involves setting up the credentials that will be used to authenticate the requests to the client's OMS. These credentials are often managed securely through encrypted storage and retrieval mechanisms.
- These configurations ensure secure, efficient, and reliable communication between the B2C Commerce platform and the client's OMS, adhering to best practices in web service integration.

NEW QUESTION # 27

The Client has just acquired a new brand and wants to integrate the new brand's current e-commerce site into a current realm as a new site. The acquisition has its own Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system for product data and inventory. The new site will use the existing realm's Order Management System (OMS) and Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system.

What two requirements does the Architect need to keep in mind when creating the technical specification document?

Choose 2 answers

- A. A new product Import Job must be created to manage products.
- B. A new order export job must be created to export orders.
- C. A new customer export Job must be created to export customers.
- D. A new inventory Import Job must be created to manage inventory.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

When integrating a new brand's e-commerce site into an existing realm, the architect needs to ensure that product data and inventory from the new brand's Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system are correctly managed within the realm. Therefore, creating new import jobs for products (Answer B) and inventory (Answer C) is essential. These import jobs will facilitate the synchronization of the new brand's product catalog and inventory levels with the existing Order Management System (OMS) and Customer Relationship Management (CRM) systems of the realm. Such integration is crucial for maintaining up-to-date product and inventory information across the systems, ensuring seamless operations and data consistency.

NEW QUESTION # 28

An Architect has been asked by the Business to integrate a new payment LINK cartridge. As part of the integration, the Architect has created four new services to access various endpoints in the integration.

How can the Architect move the new services to Production when the integration is ready for launch?

- A. The new services must be manually exported from staging and Imported into Production.
- B. The new services will be moved to Production with a Code Replication.
- C. The new services will be moved to production with a Site Import.
- D. The new services will be moved to Production with a Data Replication.

Answer: B

Explanation:

For deploying new services related to a payment LINK cartridge to Production, the correct method is through Code Replication (D). This approach ensures that all new code changes, including the integration services, are consistently applied across different environments. Code replication covers deploying all changes made in code, scripts, and service configurations from a staging or development environment to the production environment. This process ensures that all new functionalities are tested in a controlled environment before being moved to production, reducing the risk of errors affecting the live site.

NEW QUESTION # 29

During the testing of the login form, QA finds out that the first time the user can log in, but every other login attempt from another computer leads to the homepage and the basket being emptied. Developers tried to debug the issue, but when they add a breakpoint to the login action, it is not hit by the debugger.

What should the Architect recommend developers to check?

- A. Add remote include for the login page
- B. Add disable cache page in the template ISML - `<is:cache status="off"/>`.
- C. Remove CSRF protection from Login Form Action.
- D. Check Login Form and any included templates for includes that enable page caching.

Answer: D

Explanation:

When QA encounters issues with login persistence across multiple computers, where subsequent logins lead to a redirection and an emptied basket, the likely culprit could be unintended caching of login-related pages or processes. In Salesforce B2C Commerce, certain cache settings might inadvertently cause user sessions to be shared or not properly invalidated. The recommendation D, to check the login form and related templates for caching directives that might be erroneously caching login actions or user-specific data, addresses this potential issue. Developers should ensure that pages handling user sessions and authentication are configured to disable caching, thus preventing session data from being mistakenly retained or shared across different users.

NEW QUESTION # 30

During a review of the most recent release notes, the Architect finds that Salesforce has deprecated an API that is used throughout the site. After reviewing the deprecated API usage in Business Manager, the Architect narrows down the usage of that API to a particular LINK integration cartridge. The cartridge was integrated when the site was first launched and is heavily customized for the Client.

What is the recommended way for the Architect to remove the deprecated API so the LINK integration continues to work without interruptions, and lowest level of effort?

- A. The Architect should contact the company that created the LINK cartridge to fix the issue and provide the client with updated code.
- B. The Architect should check to see if the LINK cartridge has been updated already, integrate it, apply the customisations, and test thoroughly.
- C. The Architect should update all the deprecated API calls in the already integrated LINK cartridge and test thoroughly.
- D. The Architect does not need to do anything at this time, the API will continue to work with no issues for the foreseeable future.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When facing a deprecated API that is used in a LINK integration cartridge, the recommended approach is to check for an updated version of the cartridge that may have replaced the deprecated API with a supported one.

If an update is available:

* Integrate the updated cartridge into the site, ensuring compatibility with the current site configuration.

* Re-apply customizations that were made to the original cartridge to maintain functional consistency.

* Thorough testing should be conducted to ensure that the integration works seamlessly without causing disruptions in the site's functionality.

This approach minimizes effort by leveraging updates provided by the cartridge vendor while ensuring the site remains functional and compliant with current API standards.
